Government Tests Of Auto Pollution Flop, Official Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Auto manufacturers have been granted an additional two years to meet a weakened version of federal exhaust standards because government certification tests failed to measure half of the tailpipe pollutants.

John T. Middleton, administrator of the National Air Pollution Control Administration, Tuesday announced the extension with evident embarrassment. But he promised improved testing of 1972 cars.

Because present tests measure only half of the hydrocarbon and carbon monoxide emissions, he said, all 1970 model autos fall significantly short of required federal exhaust reduction standards.

New cars are now certified by the government as meeting emission limits of 2.2 grams of hydrocarbons per mile and 23 grams of carbon monoxide.

But the actual figures, determined by more accurate testing procedures, are 4.5 grams of hydrocarbon and 47 grams of carbon monoxide Middleton said.

Middleton weakened the current standards 60 per cent for carbon monoxide and 10 per cent for hydrocarbons and gave auto manufacturers until 1972 to meet them.

"Despite the higher figures, the actual quantity of pollutants emitted by cars complying with the proposed 1972 regulations will be less than some 1970 cars that comply with current regulations," he said.

"This results because the much-improved measurement capabilities of the proposed 1972 procedures produces considerably higher readings for given quantities of emissions," Middleton explained.

The tightened test procedure includes direct measurement of all emissions rather than the present system of partial measurement.

The new procedure also calls for improved detectors for hydrocarbons, and new driving patterns with stop-and-go stresses and cold start ups that better reflect normal, city auto use.

Middleton said automakers will not be prosecuted for failing short of 1970 regulations because the standard was framed in terms of the faulty test procedure. Technology necessary for the new testing procedure was not available until this year, he contended.

In addition, Middleton said the government will stand by its previously announced plan to enforce more stringent standards for carbon monoxide and hydrocarbons for 1975 cars.

He conceded the testing defects compound the existing problem of one-time government certification of finely-tuned prototype cars rather than periodic checks of production line models.

"It may take a little gut-busting" by manufacturers to pass the new tests, Middleton said. But he said consumers should not have to pay more than $10 for the necessary modifications.

At present, the Russians are understood to have about 12 missile-launching submarines in operation, some within striking range of the United States.

American strategists believe Soviet submarine-launched weapons would be targeted on American bomber bases.

This is why the Safeguard antimissile system is intended, in part, to counter a sub-launched blow at the nation's nuclear bomber force.

According to current calculations, the first U.S. Safeguard antimissile sites will not be operational at least until 1975.

The new information on the increased Soviet sub-building rate was disclosed after fresh intelligence analyses in recent days prompted defense officials to conclude the Russians have maintained the momentum of their land-based intercontinental ballistic missile buildup since last year.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee has approved import quotas which could force American consumers to pay as much as 30 per cent more for shoes and shirts.

The action is a sharp break with the 37-year-old United States policy of freer foreign trade and reflects increasing House sentiment for protection of domestic producers.

The committee quotas, announced Tuesday night, are given an excellent chance of being ratified by Congress, despite evidence of consumer resistance.

A majority of House members are sponsoring legislation for limiting imports of textile products and shoes. In the past, the House has been the pitfall of quota legislation twice voted by the Senate.

Campus Unrest To Continue To War's End

Commission Sees Little Progress With Students

WASHINGTON (AP) — A presidential commission aimed at pacifying the nation's campuses was told today it will not succeed until the Vietnam war is ended.

"It may well be," said Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, "that the only line in the commission's report that will have any real meaning for our colleges and universities is the line that reads: 'This war must end.'"

The Massachusetts Democrat and Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott were among the six witnesses called at the opening hearing of the President's Commission on Campus Unrest.

The others: San Francisco State President S. I. Hayakawa, University of Michigan President Robben Fleming, National Student Association President Charles Palmer and Otis Cochran, president of the Black American Law Student Union.

Scott declared in prepared testimony, "We must retreat from demagoguery in all its oratorical fulminations. It is time to show each other our humanity, our human goodness."

"Student awareness does this generation credit, as does their idealism. Their anger at the system, the establishment, is evidence of this awareness," he said.

The commission, headed by former Republican Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, was named a month ago by President Nixon in the wake of campus uprisings which followed the U.S. move into Cambodia.

Spurred especially by the shooting deaths of four students at Kent State University in Ohio and two youths at Jackson State College in Mississippi, Nixon asked the panel for full recommendations by Oct. 1.

Britain Facing Dock Walkout

LONDON (AP) — Representatives of Britain's 47,000 longshoremen rejected a pay raise offer today and set the stage for the first complete shutdown of the nation's docks in 41 years.

The vote against the management offer was 48-32.

More than half of Britain's dockers were on strike before the vote was taken. Some were still at work as the vote was announced.

Terms of the offer have not been made public but it was believed to include a proposal for an extra $2.40 a week for each dockworker.

House Panel OKs Import Quotas; Will Boost Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee has approved import quotas which could force American consumers to pay as much as 30 per cent more for shoes and shirts.

The action is a sharp break with the 37-year-old United States policy of freer foreign trade and reflects increasing House sentiment for protection of domestic producers.

The committee quotas, announced Tuesday night, are given an excellent chance of being ratified by Congress, despite evidence of consumer resistance.

A majority of House members are sponsoring legislation for limiting imports of textile products and shoes. In the past, the House has been the pitfall of quota legislation twice voted by the Senate.

The committee heard testimony ny that the consumer price of shirts, raincoats and shoes produced abroad is 15 to 39 per cent lower than the price of such items manufactured in the United States.

The Ways and Means decision still must be translated into an omnibus trade bill, subject to approval of both houses.

Congress is reacting to reports of steep rising imports and to irritation at continuing nontariff restrictions against U.S. goods in the European Common Market and in Japan, a major source of textiles.

The final straw was the breakdown of talks with Japan on voluntary restrictions—a failure which came just as the Ways and Means Committee was shaping trade legislation. It was at this point that the Nixon administration reluctantly dropped its opposition to textile quotas.

Preliminary figures indicated wool quotas would not result in a reduction in current import levels. Neither would cotton imports which are covered by a voluntary agreement. The committee proposal excludes silk—considered noncompetitive—and manmade fibers not made in Japan.

No figures on shoe imports have been released.

Major portions of the committee proposal would base quotas on textiles and textile products on the average of imports in 1967 through 1969. The formula could be modified later to give imports a share in any increase in domestic consumption.

The quota on manmade textiles—the major import item—would mean a cutback from about 2.3 billion square yards, the current annual import rate, to about 1.4 billion square yards.

Sen. McClellan Opens Hearings On 5,000 Bombings Across Country

U.S. Facing Warfare At Home?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan, opening hearings into the 5,000 bombings reported across the nation in the past 18 months, says the violence may mark the beginning of domestic guerrilla action.

"These are criminal acts," the Arkansas Democrat said in an interview. "But they are not crimes for profit. These are crimes committed out of an attitude of rebellion against society and against all constituted authority.

"They are intended to instill terror into the people and the community. And they have reached proportions requiring us to put the pattern together, to learn if they are connected to detect an organized conspiracy, and to learn if additional laws will be helpful to stop this wave of senseless violence."

Since Jan. 1, 1969, McClellan's investigators said, there have been more than 1,000 bombing cases involving the use of high explosives and more than 4,000 involving incendiary devices, an average of more than nine bomb incidents a day.

The result, they said, has been up to 40 deaths, about 300 injuries and more than $23 million in property damage.

Committee sources said the recent bombings appear to be the work of white and black extremists, anti-Semites and labor racketeers.

They said their statistics also indicate the resort to the bomb as a political-social terror tool has been largely a premeditated act apparently perpetrated by so-called revolutionary youths.

$1,852,694 Low Bid On U.S. 35-22 Link

Bids for construction of a feeder route for the proposed U. S. 35 bypass around Washington C. H., the resurfacing of Ohio 41 through the city to Jeffersonville, and the resurfacing of Court Street were opened by the Ohio Department of Highways Tuesday afternoon.

The apparent low bidder on the connecting link between U. S. 35 and U. S. 22 was D. E. Gooden of Circleville. The bid, one of 10, was $1,852,694.40 as compared with the state estimate of $2.2 million.

The 2.3-mile project will extend Ohio 753 (Washington Good Hope Road) northeastward to link U. S. 35 and U. S. 22 east of the city.

Completion of the overall bypass project, slated for 1973, should draw about 2,000 vehicles per day off Washington C. H. streets.

Southwest Paving Co., of Washington C. H., was the apparent low bidder on the resurfacing of Ohio 41 and Court Street. Its bid was $110,373.35. Two other companies submitted bids on the work, to be awarded as a single project.

The resurfacing of 11 miles of Ohio 41 from Washington C. H. to Jeffersonville includes Court Street which will extend from Washington Avenue to Leesburg Avenue.

The meeting to award the contracts will be held at 3:30 p.m. Thursday at Ohio Department of Highways headquarters.

Auto Union And Industry Open Talks

DETROIT (AP) — Wage contract bargaining between the United Auto Workers union and major industry leaders opens today and the outcome is likely to have a bearing on the prices of 1971 model cars.

Both union and industry sources have said there probably will be a strike, although the auto firms and the union have vowed they don't want one.

The UAW and General Motors Corp. start the initial negotiations at a forenoon session, followed by talks with Ford Motor Co. Thursday and Chrysler Corp. Friday.

In a statement issued as the session convened, Earl Bramblett, GM vice president in charge of personnel, urged that "serious bargaining begin immediately."

Frequently in past negotiations little progress has been made until the old contracts were on the verge of expiration.

The current three-year contracts covering some 730,000 workers at Big Three plants throughout the country expire at midnight Sept. 14.

Safe Driving Appeal Sounded

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Col. Robert M. Chiaramonte, Ohio Highway Patrol superintendent, appealed to Ohioans today to help law enforcement agencies "hold the line" on traffic fatalities for the rest of this year.

He said the five per cent decrease in fatal accidents for the first half of 1970 could change quickly to an increase if the pattern set in June continues. June fatalities numbered 230 compared to 190 in June last year.

He warned that "traffic laws will be enforced as they are written and the reckless or drinking driver will be removed from the highway."

Alexei Kosygin Is Re-Elected

MOSCOW (AP) — The Supreme Soviet unanimously re-elected Alexei N. Kosygin premier of the Soviet Union today. He is to present his cabinet nominations later in the current session of the Supreme Soviet, the Soviet Union's parliament, but there has been no indication whether there will be any changes.

Election of a government is a formality required because this is the first session of the new parliament elected last month. Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev nominated Kosygin at a joint session of the two houses, and he was confirmed by the usual show of hands.

Kosygin, 66, has been premier since Nikita Khrushchev was ousted in 1964. Because he is over 65, there had been some speculation he might choose this short summer session of parliament to retire, but no one was surprised when he continued in office.

They have disappeared from the files.

South Korea Lists Arms Needs Before U.S. Cutback

SEOUL (AP) — Air defense items head the list of what South Korea's armed forces need to get from the United States before a third of the U.S. troops in the country can be withdrawn, Defense Minister Chung Nae-hyuk said in an interview today.

Chung said he would present the list of needed items to Deputy Defense Secretary David Packard at a meeting in Honolulu July 21.

He also said he would ask for equipment needed to ward off seaborne infiltrations.

Chung did not estimate the cost of the military buildup nor the length of time it would require, but he is expected to ask for assurances of modernization to compensate for the planned withdrawal of some 20,000 of the 60,000 American troops stationed in South Korea.

In general, Chung said, South Korea seeks three types of military modernization—more firepower, better mobility and improved communications.

Like other members of the South Korean government, the defense chief reacted strongly against the U.S. troop reduction. He said it was "very unfortunate under the circumstances to apply the Nixon Doctrine. . . . It is certainly not the suitable time to implement it."

After the seizure of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo in 1968, the United States provided about $100 million in additional assistance for the South Korean armed forces. This included a squadron of 18 Phantom jet aircraft.

Those were "not satisfactory to cope with the Communist air force in the North," Chung said.

He estimated that South Korea has about one-third the capability of the North Korean air force. Of 900 North Korean planes, more than half are supersonic jets, including four squadrons of MIG21s, he said.

The gap between the North Korean and South Korean air forces has been filled by reinforcements of U.S. aircraft since the Pueblo incident, the defense chief stated.

"But because of budgetary reasons," he added, "the number of U.S. Air Force planes here has declined."

Chung said the Honolulu meeting with Packard would be the third annual meeting of defense officials of the two countries.

"We will renew our feeling of close ties," he said, "and at the same time I am going to present to Mr. Packard our need of strengthening and modernizing the ROK forces to cope with North Korean forces."

There is danger, Chung warned, that North Korea's leaders would have the illusion that determination as well as armed might in South Korea was being weakened with the reduction of U.S. forces.

"We want our forces at least to make a balance with the Communist forces," he said. "So that North Korea cannot dream of unification of our country by force."

SAIGON (AP) — Nearly 5,000 South Vietnamese troops launched a major new sweep today, seeking to destroy North Vietnamese base camps in rugged jungle country west of Da Nang.

Kicking off one of the biggest operations in months in the northern provinces, waves of U.S. Marine helicopters landed the assault troops and their American advisers shortly after daylight in an area 25 to 40 miles east of the Laotian frontier. No major allied operations have taken place there in years.

Only light contact was reported in the early hours of the operation.

The attack force included three battalions of South Vietnamese marines recently withdrawn from Cambodia and two battalions of Vietnamese special forces troops, the mercenaries paid by the United States and trained and led by U.S. Green Berets.

Their primary targets were two North Vietnamese base areas west and southwest of Thuong Duc. It is the site of a Special Forces camp which was under sporadic rocket and mortar fire until about two weeks ago.

Col. Nguyen Van Thien, the commander of the operation, said his force was taking advantage of good weather to spoil potential enemy buildups for large ground attacks such as they have almost always made in August.

South Vietnamese officers also took the wraps off another operation, a three-battalion push that began Sunday west of ernizing the ROK forces to cope with North Korean forces.

There is danger, Chung warned, that North Korea's leaders would have the illusion that determination as well as armed might in South Korea was being weakened with the reduction of U.S. forces.

"We want our forces at least to make a balance with the Communist forces," he said. "So that North Korea cannot dream of unification of our country by force."

South Vietnamese officers also took the wraps off another operation, a three-battalion push that began Sunday west of Hiep Duc, which is 35 miles south of Da Nang. A district town, Hiep Duc has been attacked repeatedly since the first of the year and during May was partially occupied for five days by North Vietnamese troops.

No contact with the enemy was reported in this operation.

Spokesmen in Saigon reported that enemy activity across the country was the lightest in several months, with the only sharp fighting involving U.S. forces. In four contacts, one American and 20 of the enemy were killed, and 13 Americans were wounded, the U.S. Command said.

State Income Shows Boost

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Auditor Roger Cloud reported today that tax revenue for the state general revenue fund passed the billion dollar mark for the first time in history during fiscal 1970.

He said the total collections of $1,087,667,037 represented an increase of $132,910,920 or 13.9 per cent over receipts of $954,757,017 for fiscal 1969.

Accounting for the largest increase, $29.9 million, was revenue from the cigarette tax, which hit $108,434,911.

Sales tax collections of $624,759,204 were up $23 million, while receipts from the corporation franchise tax amounted to $111.2 million, up $27.8 million. Public utility tax receipts were $88.6 million, up $23.8 million.

Symphony-Goers To Hear Program Of Popular Music

An evening of show tunes, folk songs and popular music will be presented by the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra's Pops Orchestra at Gardner Park beginning at 8 p.m. Thursday.

Prior to the concert, a picnic will be held on the green. Persons attending the concert are invited to bring their own picnic food or to purchase their meal at the park from the women of the Staunton United Methodist Church. Proceeds of the sale will be used for the church.

At intermission, sandwiches, candy and soft drinks will be sold under the stadium.

Persons bringing blankets for their picnics may remain on the football field to hear the orchestra, or may take seats in the stadium.

Special arrangements have been made again for senior citizens and persons who have difficulty walking. Passes may be picked up at the Chamber of Commerce office, S. Fayette St., Thursday permitting cars to drive up to the gates or to the stadium. All other traffic will be prohibited from entering

Coverup Charged In My Lai Massacre

WASHINGTON (AP) — The alleged massacre of Vietnamese civilians at My Lai was deliberately covered up under an agreement by military and State Department officers in the field, a special House subcommittee has charged.

Reports of atrocities by U.S. soldiers promptly spread through 13 different command levels in the American Division, support units and U.S. adviser groups, the subcommittee said in a report released Tuesday. But there is no evidence they ever reached headquarters in Saigon, the report added.

"The subcommittee believes the explanation lies in a concerted action among military and State Department officers to suppress all evidence of the allegation and its investigation," the report said. "... The subcommittee," the report said, "was unable to determine when, and by whom, that decision was made, and consequently is unable to describe the scope of the agreement."

The report, based on still-secret testimony by 152 witnesses, was released by a special four-man House armed services investigating subcommittee headed by Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La.

Other principal findings of the investigation into the Task Force Barker sweep against the suspected Viet Cong stronghold at My Lai March 16, 1968:

—Helicopter Pilot Hugh C. Thompson testified that when landed to rescue Vietnamese civilians from a bunker, a lieutenant in charge of GIs standing over bodies in a ditch told him "The only way I could get them out is with a hand grenade" or something of that order. But Thompson denied having helicopter guns trained on GIs during the rescue.

—Acts by individual GIs were so wrong and uncharacteristic "as to immediately raise a question as to the legal sanity at the time of those men involved."

—The Uniform Code of Military Justice should be revised to prohibit court-martial for such acts in combat until the accused man's mental responsibility at the time has been determined.

—The sole written record of a field investigation—concluding only 20 Vietnamese civilians were killed in artillery, helicopter gunship and ground cross-fire and that none were rounded up by GIs and killed—was found hidden in a sergeant's desk drawer. If other documents ever existed, they have disappeared from the files.

—An order by Capt. Ernest L. Medina, commander of the company that made the main My Lai sweep, to return to count civilian dead was countermanded by Maj. Gen. Samuel W. Koster, then American Division commander, from a helicopter flying overhead. Koster said Medina's estimate of 28 dead sounded about right.

—U.S. intelligence dismissed allegations of up to 570 civilian deaths in My Lai and nearby areas as "Communist propaganda" even though most of the allegations were coming from South Vietnamese officials and detailed time, place and U.S. units involved.

Hebert's subcommittee drew no conclusions on what actually happened at My Lai and made

Deaths, Funerals

Walter P. Thompson

Walter P. Thompson, 75, Ohio, died at 10:15 p.m. Tuesday in Mount Carmel Hospital, Columbus, where he had undergone surgery three weeks ago. His death, however, was unexpected.

Mr. Thompson, a native of Washington C. H. and graduate of the high school here, was a descendant of one of the county's pioneer families, which settled near Compton Creek in 1806.

A resident of the Eber community, he was a farmer, specializing for many years in raising sheep, was a breeder of Appaloosa horses and a buyer for the Ohio Wool Growers Association. He was one of the founders of the Shepherds Club, Fish and Game Association and the B-W Riding Club which he frequently led on trail rides from his summer cottage on Turkey Ridge, Ross County. He was a member of the First Presbyterian Church.

He is survived by his wife, the former Senath Kellough, retired clerk of the Union Township Board of Education and later the Miami Trace District Board of Education; a son, Bill Thompson, Wildwood Rd.; a daughter, Mrs. Richard P. (Jane) Rankin, Ohio 41-N; six grandchildren; a great-granddaughter; a brother, Frank Thompson, of El Cerrito, Calif., and a sister, Mrs. Grace Goodwin, 422 Broadway.

Services will be held at 10:30 a.m. Saturday in the Thompson home. The Rev. Gerald Wheat, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, will officiate.

Burial will be in Bloomingburg Cemetery under the direction of the Morrow Funeral Home, Jeffersonville. Friends may call at the late residence after 4 p.m. Thursday.

Mrs. George Persinger

JAMESTOWN — Mrs. Louie Garringer Persinger, 90, widow of George Persinger, died at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday in Heathergreen Nursing Home, Xenia, where she had been a patient the past month. Her home was near Jamestown.

Mrs. Persinger was born in western Fayette County, the daughter of Albert and Angeline Little Garringer. Her husband preceded her in death in 1954.

She was a member of Jamestown Methodist Church. Survivors include a son, Wayne Persinger, nee a Jamestown; four grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren. A daughter, Helen, preceded her in death.

Services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Friday in the Powers Funeral Home, with burial in Jamestown Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. Thursday.

MRS. INEZ McDONALD — Services for Mrs. Inez McDonald, 78, 22 Colonial Ct., were held in the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home here at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday, with the Rev. Fr. Richard J. Connelly, of St. Colman's Catholic Church officiating. Mrs. McDonald, the widow of Matthew J. McDonald, died Sunday.

Palbearers for the burial in Washington Cemetery were Lawrence Wical, Matthew J. McDonald, Anthony Perone, Gary Ames, Howard McDonald and Lawrence Staubach.

Union Township OKs Paving Bid

A contract for resurfacing 4,928 miles of township roads was awarded to Southwest Paving Co. by the Union Township Board of Trustees Tuesday night.

The bid of $32,958.20, which the board accepted, was the only one received. The estimated cost was $35,433.51.

Under the contract, county trucks will haul the asphaltic concrete from the Southwest Paving Co. plant to the sites where the company will spread it according to specifications.

Slated for the improvement are Hickory Lane; Rowe-Ging Road, from Armbrust Road to Snow Hill Road; Trace Court in the subdivision on Ohio 41 about two miles north of Washington C. H.; and Cluyburn Avenue and Pearl, Grace and Mace streets in Rosemont Court adjoining the northern corporation line of the city.

No starting time for the work was specified, but Frank Dill, chairman of the Board of Trustees, said it will be "as soon as Southwest can get to it."

Parole Approved For Joey Naples

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Parole Board has approved a parole, effective Aug. 12, for Joey Naples, former Youngstown racketeer figure.

Naples' parole came on the regular list released Tuesday by the board. He was sent to the penitentiary in 1964 after conviction for possessing and concealing stolen materials and promoting a game of chance.

Mrs. Harvey DeWitt

SPRINGFIELD — Mrs. Hazel Doris DeWitt, 332 N. Plum St., died Tuesday in Mercy Medical Center following two years of failing health.

She was born in Ross County, the daughter of Thomas and Jenny Davis Lee, and spent most of her life in Springfield. She was a member of Second Church of Christ in Christian Union.

Mrs. DeWitt is survived by her husband, Harvey Richard DeWitt; one daughter, Mrs. Leola Williams of Springfield; a granddaughter; a sister Mrs. Leroy Hamer of Springfield; three brothers, Chester of Mount Sterling, and Marion and Leonard of Springfield.

The body was taken to the Littleton Funeral Home, where funeral services will be held. Friends may call from 3 to 5 and 7 to 9 p.m. Thursday. Services will be held at the funeral home at 10 a.m. Friday. Burial will be in White Oak Cemetery, Fayette County.

Senate OKs Birth Control Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Without debate or dissent, the Senate has passed and sent to the House a bill to set up a federal birth-control assistance program to make family-planning services and information available to all Americans who want them.

The five-year birth-control assistance and research program is expected to cost $1 billion and will be administered by a new Office of Population Affairs under the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The measure was approved Tuesday by the Senate. President Nixon has declared family-planning services should be available to all Americans who want but cannot afford them.

An estimated 5.4 million American women are unable to afford these services, the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee said.

The services will be made available only on a voluntary basis, the committee added.

Enter Pleas In Conspiracy

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Pleas to charges involving an alleged white slavery operation were entered in U. S. District Court here Tuesday by three Dayton men, one a suspended policeman.

Robert Wax, 27, of Kettering, pleaded guilty to two conspiracy counts and further action in his case was withheld pending a pre-sentence report.

The suspended patrolman, Louis Edward Leonard, 27, and Silas Eugene Taylor, 35, both of Kettering, entered innocent pleas and their trial was set for Sept. 5. Leonard is charged with one count of conspiracy and five counts of aiding racketeering. Taylor has been charged with two counts of conspiracy, 12 for aiding racketeering and eight for white slavery.

A total of 19 counts were filed against Wax, but only two were listed in the court appearance Tuesday.

FBI agents arrested the trio last week.

Striking Garbage Collectors To Return In Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Striking garbage collectors are expected to be back on Cleveland streets today picking up trash that has accumulated during the past eight days.

The end of the unauthorized work stoppage was announced Tuesday night by Joseph Farinacci, secretary-treasurer of Municipal Foreman and Laborers Union Local 1099.

Declaring that union and city negotiators were close to agreement, Farinacci said he was asking the 1,000 garbage collectors who have been calling in sick to report for work.

As he has throughout the work stoppage, Farinacci continued to insist that the men were sick, not on strike, and said he would tell the men to get back to work.

Washington Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the first time in four years the Justice Department is asking the Subversive Activities Control Board to identify an organization as a Communist front.

The board, created in 1950, was asked by Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell Tuesday to designate the Young Workers League and the Center for Market Education, both with headquarters in New York City, as fronts for Communists' activity.

The Young Workers League, Mitchell said, is "a Marxist, Leninist youth organization, created and controlled by the U.S. Communist party." He said the center is operated mainly to support the Communist party.

The Subversive Activities Control Board last identified an organization as a Communist front when it listed the W. E. B. DuBois Clubs in 1966.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will maintain its Navy base at Guantanamo, Cuba, despite the opposition of the Castro regime, says Navy Secretary John H. Chafee.

G. Warren Nutter, assistant secretary of defense for international security affairs, noted Tuesday that U.S. possession of the base dates to a non-expiring treaty signed in 1903. "And if it is broken, that of course is an act of war," Nutter said.

Nutter and Chafee made the remarks in addressing a foreign policy conference for young political leaders.

Cuban Premier Fidel Castro has said he wants the U.S. to abandon the base.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Emory C. Swank, a foreign-service officer since 1946, will be nominated by President Nixon as United States ambassador to Cambodia.

Nixon made the announcement in Louisville, Ky., Tuesday.

Swank, 58, serves as deputy assistant secretary of state for European affairs. He was deputy chief of mission at Vientiane, Laos, from 1964 until 1967, then held the same job in Moscow.

The Cambodian post has been vacant since last July when the U.S. restored diplomatic relations after a four-year break.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission has decided against selling three gaseous diffusion plants to private enterprise, says the head of a House committee which handles AEC appropriations.

Rep. Joe L. Evin, D-Tenn., said Tuesday he was told by AEC Chairman Dr. Glenn Seaborg that the White House and the commission had dropped plans to sell the plants.

Evin said the decision not to sell is in the public interest. He is acting chairman of the House Public Works appropriations subcommittee which handles AEC money bills.

The suspended patrolman, Louis Edward Leonard, 27, and Silas Eugene Taylor, 35, both of Kettering, entered innocent pleas and their trial was set for Sept. 5. Leonard is charged with one count of conspiracy and five counts of aiding racketeering. Taylor has been charged with two counts of conspiracy, 12 for aiding racketeering and eight for white slavery.

A total of 19 counts were filed against Wax, but only two were listed in the court appearance Tuesday.

FBI agents arrested the trio last week.

Bombing Hearings

In the past 13 months, explosions have ripped office buildings in New York City, ROTC buildings on university campuses, the offices of foreign nations in New York and Washington, synagogues and churches, and school buses.

NEW YORK (AP) — A bomb exploded in front of a branch of the Chase Manhattan Bank in the East Village early today, shattering its glass doors and breaking nearby windows. There were no injuries.

The bomb which police said was made in a pipe and had a clock timing device, went off at 2:33 a.m. outside the bank at 529 Broadway, near West Houston Street.

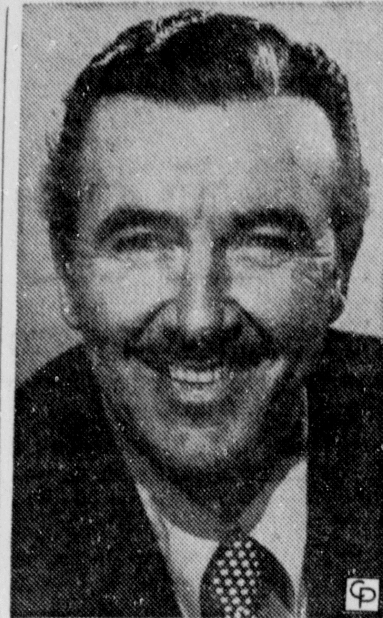

There have been a number of bombings and attempted bombings of corporate offices, police and other public facilities in the past year in New York City.

work "if they are physically able." Details of negotiations were not disclosed, and neither union nor city officials would say what improvements, if any, were made in the city after last week of a 47-cent hourly pay raise.

The trash collectors had demanded a $1.03 boost in their present pay scale of $3.30 an hour.

Announcement that the collectors would return came just a few hours before expiration of no-strike promises that had been given by six of the 14 unions representing city workers. City officials had predicted that some sort of agreement would be reached before the midnight Tuesday deadline in an effort to keep other unions from walking out.

Witnesses told police that a late-model car with three Negro men, one armed with a shotgun, sped from the area.

PRESTON FOSTER

Preston Foster Dies At 69

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — Preston Foster, whose lengthy acting career took him through more than 120 movies as a fist swinging hero or villain, is dead at 69.

The dark-haired, mustachioed actor starred as Capt. John Herick, a tugboat skipper, in the television series "Waterfront," for 78 installments starting in 1954. He made more than 100 films for television.

His death Tuesday at Scripps Memorial Hospital was preceded by a long illness.

The 200-pound, 6-foot-2 actor made his last movie "Chubasco," for Warner Bros. in 1967.

Foster worked as a paymaster, shipping clerk, bus driver and advertising salesman and professional wrestler before his first appearance on stage carrying a spear with the Philadelphia Grand Opera. He quickly moved up to singing bass parts in "Carmen," "Othello" and "Rigoletto."

He switched to the Broadway stage, where movie producer-director Mervyn LeRoy saw him in the 1931 play "Two Seconds" and persuaded him to try Hollywood. Foster's first film role was in the 1932 movie version of the same play, retitled, "The Last Mile," opposite Edward G. Robinson.

My Lai Massacre

The initial field inquiry was as much concerned with reports of a "machine gun confrontation" between helicopter pilot Thompson and an unnamed platoon leader, one officer testified, as with Thompson's report of civilian killings.

Thompson denied ordering guns trained on the GIs or believing he was threatened by them, the report said, even though he said the platoon leader had told him the only way to get civilians out of a bunker to rescue them was with a hand grenade.

The report quoted one of Thompson's gunners, Lawrence Colburn, as saying the pilot told the gunners to shoot any GIs interfering with the rescue attempt but didn't mean it.

The committee said the "cover up" of the My Lai allegations cannot be solely blamed on Koster's American Division. The staff of the senior U.S. province adviser, James May, and senior advisers to the South Vietnamese division also were receiving reports that should have gone to Saigon, the subcommittee said.

May told the subcommittee he never heard the allegations, while Koster testified he did not report to headquarters in Saigon because he believed the field investigation showed "his troops were not at fault."

That was the finding of a five-page report, found in a sergeant's desk drawer, by Col. Oran K. Henderson, 11th Brigade commander, the subcommittee said.

It said "there is not a shred of evidence" other than the statements of Koster and Henderson, that Lt. Col. Frank Barker, the task force commander who was later killed, conducted a subsequent investigation into allegations that more than 20 Vietnamese civilians had been killed.

President Nixon signed the bill into law, but said he preferred to lower the voting age by constitutional amendment.

The attorney general said the 50 states have been asked to submit by Aug. 3 their plans for complying with the new law.

The 18-year-old age provision of the Voting Rights Act does not take effect until Jan. 1, 1971. Two other key provisions, banning literacy tests and dropping residency requirements for voting in presidential elections, became law when Nixon signed the bill June 22.

"If we do not receive a positive response by Aug. 3, we will assume that the state does not intend to comply fully with the new federal statute and we, of course, will move accordingly," Mitchell said.

Such action would take the form of lawsuits filed before three-judge panels at the U.S. District Court level and proceed up through the Supreme Court, he said.

Stolen Car Headquarters Is Located

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland police said two detectives followed Tuesday a car reported stolen to a stolen car supply depot containing more than $300,000 worth of cars and parts.

Police said the depot at 1310 East 115th Street is believed to be the headquarters of a multi-million-dollar statewide auto theft ring.

The driver of the car being followed escaped, police said. They said eight cars on stolen car lists were found inside the building along with other cars and parts of cars believed to have been stolen.

Over 200 sets of license plates were found, representing cars from five states. Police said the license plates apparently were from cars that had been stolen.

Also found in the shop were eight sticks of dynamite, two heavy explosive bombs and six hydraulic lift trucks, including one lift truck belonging to the U.S. Army.

County Faces Strike Due To Work Cuts

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — Unionized Trumbull County employees have threatened to strike Monday unless county commissioners rescind austerity measures taken recently.

Spokesmen for Public Employees Local 506A, which represents fewer than 100 of the county's 700 employees, demanded Tuesday that the commissioners rehire all seven union men who were laid off for economy reasons last month.

They also demanded that all county employees on a half-time austerity schedule be returned to full time and that a six percent cost-of-living adjustment be granted to all union members in accordance with an agreement they said was reached with county officials earlier this year.

Mitchell To Defend Voting Law Despite Misgivings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell has pledged to defend the 18-year-old voting bill despite President Nixon's serious misgivings about its constitutionality.

"Any good lawyer can take any side of a case and argue it with equal ability," he said Tuesday at his first Washington press conference in a year.

President Nixon signed the bill into law, but said he preferred to lower the voting age by constitutional amendment.

The attorney general said the 50 states have been asked to submit by Aug. 3 their plans for complying with the new law.

The 18-year-old age provision of the Voting Rights Act does not take effect until Jan. 1, 1971. Two other key provisions, banning literacy tests and dropping residency requirements for voting in presidential elections, became law when Nixon signed the bill June 22.

Mete Jail Term In Columbus Manslaughter

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A charge of second-degree murder filed against 29-year-old David Arthur Antle of Erlanger, Ky., in the stabbing death of Cheryl Ann Reynolds, 21, in her apartment last Aug. 9 was reduced to first-degree manslaughter Tuesday.

Common Pleas Court Judge Myron B. Gessman sentenced Antle to one to 20 years in the penitentiary when the latter entered a guilty plea to the reduced charge.

The body of Miss Reynolds, described by police as a prostitute, was found in bed at her apartment. Her hands tied behind her. Her body was nude and police said she had been stabbed a number of times.

Antle was arrested at his Kentucky home, traced there through a wedding ring found at the murder victim's apartment. Spokesmen in the prosecutor's office said Antle's wife could not testify against her husband and this led to reduction of the sentence through inadmissible evidence.

WEATHER SUMMARY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official weather bureau summary for Ohio:

Thunderstorm activity was forecast to develop over Ohio early tonight ahead of a cold front moving eastward.

Clear, cooler and less humid weather is forecast for most of the state Thursday.

Friday's outlook is for fair and continued mild weather.

Lows tonight were expected to range from the upper 50s to low 60s.

Cloud Is Speaker

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The qualifications for being a candidate are not sufficient qualifications for being a public servant," Republican gubernatorial candidate Roger Cloud said Tuesday at the University of Toledo.

KENT, Ohio (AP) — A public hearing on campus disorders will be held at Kent State University today by a legislative subcommittee which has already heard two days of testimony from key officials behind closed doors.

The subcommittee at Kent is one of three of the Ohio Select Legislative Committee on Campus Disorders and is chaired by Ohio Sen. Theodore Gray, R-3 Piqua.

Portage County Common Pleas Judge Albert L. Caris and Portage County Prosecutor Ronald Kane were among witnesses at Tuesday's closed session.

Caris granted an injunction at Kane's request to close Kent State after four students were fatally shot in a confrontation with Ohio National Guardsmen on the campus May 4.

Also testifying Tuesday were Kent Mayor Leroy Satrom, Capt. Chester Hayth, a highway patrol district commander from Warren who helped investigate Kent disorders, and student Ernie Blount of Cleveland, president of Kent State's Black United Students.

Stock List On Upside

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices began trending upward today after drifting fractionally off in earlier trading. Trading continued to be slow.

At noon the Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was up 4.04 at 707.08.

Advancing issues were widening their small lead over decliners.

Analysts attributed today's gains to investor confidence sparked by the market's ability to withstand downward consolidation pressure.

Profit taking so far on the recent rally which sent the Dow up more than 30 points has been quite mild, with the Dow holding onto the rally gains. This is a sign of technical strength, analysts said.

At noon the Associated Press 60-stock average was up 0.6, with industrials up 1.4, rails off 0.2, and utilities, up 0.4.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange included Equity Funding, up 1/2 at 20 3/4; Asamara Oil, up 1/2 at 11 1/4; Sanitas Service, up 1/2 at 7 1/4; Teleprompter, up 1/2 at 65 1/4; Systems Engineering, up 1/2 at 12 1/2; and Ehrenreich Photo-Optical Industries, up 1/2 at 9 1/2.

Preferable Alternative

The administration through the appointment of David K. E. Bruce as chief of the Paris delegation, has shown a greater interest in a negotiated settlement of the war. Now the real difficulties of trying to work out a solution come to the forefront of attention.

One possibility which has been discussed throughout the war is the establishment of a coalition government in Saigon representing both the current regime and the Viet Cong. Despite its evident drawbacks from the United States point of view, this approach must now be given most serious attention.

A coalition government as the basis for settlement of the war would be distasteful to many Americans for two reasons. First, it would appear to be a collusion to the Viet Cong. Our primary stated justification for the war has been to keep the Communists from taking over.

The second reason people will oppose a coalition government is the lurking thought that, although it would end the fighting and keep the Communists from taking complete control over South Vietnam, this solution might in the longer run prove unstable. There would be fear of another Laos, with the Communists moving in to undermine and take over the coalition government once American troops and aid were completely withdrawn.

There is clearly some basis for these objections. No coalition government in South Vietnam — given the past 20 years of strife there, and the tenacity with which the Viet Cong have fought — would be a sure bet.

However, there appear to be no other feasible means of achieving a negotiated settlement. The alternative to that, an open ended continuation of armed combat becomes less acceptable with each passing month of the war.

There is no gain in deceiving ourselves: we must admit that taking the coalition road would be a gamble. Such a solution might not work. In the end the Communists might still manage to take over South Vietnam by political means, as they have not been able to do by force of arms.

This would cause some loss of face by the United States. But this outcome would be preferable to the alternative of continuing the fighting indefinitely without any viable prospect of peace.

Class War Comes To North Ireland

THESE DAYS.... By John Chamberlain

In Northern Ireland the war, as it appears in the headlines, is religious. That fantastic Elmer Gantry of North Irish Protestantism, the Rev. Ian Paisley, who sits in the British House of Commons as well as in the Ulster parliament, would have you believe that "Popery" is the issue.

So he disrupts an "ecumenical" guest Mass celebrated by Catholics in Britain's Anglican Canterbury Cathedral, raising a row in a country not his own for the sake of publicity in Ulster. Catholics in Belfast respond to Paisley's provocations by clobbering Protestants.

But someone — meaning the Northern Irish common man, both Catholic and Presbyterian — is being hard. Under the surface a hard Left which has no particular interest in religion of any sort edges things along. The common man, a pawn of revolutionists, gets killed.

THE OBJECT of the war is not to win civil rights in North Ireland; that phase is already closed. Every citizen, whether Catholic or Protestant, poor or rich, now has the vote. The administration of the city of Londonderry — or Derry, as you must call it to please its citizens — is in Catholic hands.

In Belfast's Stormont Castle the ruling Unionist party, a centrist body, is doing its best to provide housing and to create jobs; its welfare payments, reinforced from London, provide a higher standard of living for the poor than may be obtained in Eire. But the war in Northern Ireland goes on because revolutionists want to turn it into a class war.

Fiery Ian McCann, who headed the civil rights movement yesterday, is now openly crusading for a united Ireland under socialist rule. If Bernadette Devlin were out of jail she would be helping him. Curiously enough, Mr. McCann gets little support for his "combined socialist Ireland" in Dublin. A majority of Eire's Irishmen might like to see the North and South joined together under one flag at some point

HOW CAN THIS be said with any certainty?

A poll conducted by the (southern) Irish magazine, This Week, tells a fairly convincing story. To a question, "Would you approve or disapprove of arms being supplied from the 26 counties to people in the North?" 83 per cent disapproved, 11 per cent approved, and 6 per cent said they didn't have an opinion.

There was no generation gap in the vote; the under-35 respondents divided by percentages that were almost identical with the older vote. The women, however, were a bit more pacifist than the men. At least one male in 10 in the south would like to see gun-running continue.

If the Rev. Mr. Paisley wants to keep the religious war going, he is not joined by churches other than his own. The troubles in Northern Ireland have brought the four major denominations in both North and South Ireland together in a tougher ecumenical stance than they have shown in a generation.

William Cardinal Conway, the Catholic primate of Ireland (he is also Archbishop of Armagh, which is St. Patrick's old stamping ground), joins with Rev. John Carson, moderator of the Presbyterian Church, in asking for a cessation of the religious war.

They are supported by the Anglican Archbishop of Dublin, George Sims, and by the Rev. George Good, president of the Methodist Church.

SO ULSTER could have peace if the extremists would only lay off. But peace is not the extremists' bag anywhere east or west of Vietnam. Nobo dy knows how much "relief" money collected in the United States for the alleviation of poverty in North Ireland is deflected to revolutionary causes, but the FBI suspects that it is considerable.

When he was in the U.S., Ian McCann, who keeps a picture of Lenin on his office wall at home, spoke for four hours to a group on Fourteenth Street in New York City. At this meeting a visitor could have signed with any one of three organizations, the People's Democracy (Maoist and Castroite), the National Association for Irish Justice (for a united proletarian Ireland), or the Socialist International. One visitor joined them all — and the literature he collects from them is interchangeable.

The Orangemen still fight the Wearin' O' the Green in North Ireland. But a more sinister war goes on for the soul of a country.

If the hard Left wins, and a socialist worker flag flies over the whole of Ireland, all the old symbols and traditions, along with the religions that gave them sanction, will shrivel. It's a tall order, but Northern Ireland must become as ecumenical as Switzerland if any of its religions are to persist.

Opening lead—four of hearts.

It is clearly wrong to double the opponents for penalties at a high-level contract — even though you surely have them beaten — if the double may drive them into some other contract that they might make.

East neglected to follow this time-honored principle when he doubled six notrump after South had foolishly bid it. East would have defeated six notrump four tricks had he simply passed and led the A-K-J-10 of spades.

But he doubled instead of passing, and it was not difficult for North—who knew that an ace was missing—to realize that East was about to lead the A-K of spades against six notrump doubled and that a heavy penalty might ensue.

So North ran to seven diamonds, hoping that West would choose the wrong major suit to lead, and this hope materialized when West—who had no clear indication where to attack — chose the four of hearts for his opening salvo.

As a result, South made seven diamonds for a score of 2,440 points, which was exactly 2,840 points better than he would have done had East acted more judiciously and passed six notrump.

South was extraordinarily lucky to come up smelling like a rose after his dreadful six notrump bid. It is basic in any partnership that the player who initiates Blackwood is captain of the team and determines the final contract.

In line with this theory, South should therefore have passed six clubs after North had bid it, but, as Shakespeare so aptly put it: All's well that ends well.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

SEARCH For Marriage Somewhere Else!

DEAR ABBY: My brother asked me to write to you to see if you can help him get any closer to marriage with his girl friend of 10 years—I'll call her "Zelda."

Zelda loves the big city and my brother likes the quiet of the countryside. Zelda doesn't come alive until 10 p.m. and at that hour my brother is ready for bed.

Even though they live 200 miles apart, they see each other on weekends and holidays. (My brother flies his own plane.)

Zelda is jealous of anyone who looks at him twice, but she doesn't care for sex herself. (She was in a concentration camp when she was young.) My brother would like a family, but since he is 46 and Zelda is 43 and they aren't married yet, that looks doubtful. What do you think, Abby?

HIS SISTER
DEAR SISTER: I think if your brother wants marriage, he should look for someone who likes the quiet of the countryside, sex, and won't take 10 years to make up her mind. A 40-year-old man who flies his own plane should have no trouble landing a GIRL.

DEAR ABBY: I am a middle-aged professional woman. Several months ago a person whom I considered to be a loyal friend accused me of repeating some confidential information she told me about another person. I did not repeat the information, but I know who did, and if I were to tell my friend who repeated it, she would be terribly upset.

My friend just assumes that I am the guilty one, and she refuses to believe otherwise. This has hurt me deeply.

It is impossible to communicate with someone who has a closed mind. Is there any way I can reach this friend? I want to set her straight to clear myself, but in so doing I will have to put someone else on the spot.

A SINCERE FRIEND
DEAR FRIEND: Too bad your friend with the "closed mind" doesn't have a mouth to match. If she passed on "confidential information" which created trouble (which appears to be the case)—shame on her. To you, I say, in the future don't listen to that kind of "information," and for the present, don't knock yourself out trying to prove your innocence.

DEAR ABBY: I know you can't give any medical advice, but my daughter-in-law and I are so worried about my son that it is becoming a serious problem.

My son was buried in a mine cave-in about a year ago. Thank God he has recovered from his physical injuries, but we think something else may be wrong with him and we're afraid the doctors will laugh at us.

His whole personality has changed. He is so depressed, impatient and moody. No one in his family can get along with him. We are all so thankful to have him alive, but he's making everyone around him miserable, and he is miserable, too. Could it be the lack of oxygen he suffered a year ago, or is this just a coincidence?

SO WORRIED
DEAR WORRIED: The shock of such an experience could easily have upset your son emotionally. Don't be ashamed to discuss this with your doctor. I PROMISE YOU HE WON'T "LAUGH." There is no more "shame" in admitting an emotional disorder than a physical one, and treatment to correct it is equally as vital.

DEAR ABBY: An obviously misinformed correspondent recently wrote and said, "so many countries, like Samoa, have 'relaxed marital codes,' and you let it pass as though it were a fact."

As a native Samoan, I must protest. Margaret Mead notwithstanding, Samoan culture embodies the highest ideals of Christianity, which in all likelihood surpass those found in 1970 American society. Certainly in Samoa today one doesn't find the disintegration of the family unit found in the United States.

So please inform your untutored and misinformed correspondent, as well as your readers who may still be relying on outdated information, that modern-day Samoans are not living in a free love paradise.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Youth Club Activities

WILSON WINNERS

Marilyn Junk, president, brought the meeting of the Wilson Winners 4-H Club to order in the home of Mrs. Lloyd Fennig.

Pledges were led by Brenda Utermohlen. Roll call was answered with the names of projects.

Connie Lieceur, health leader, led a discussion entitled, "Summer Health." Cindy Lieceur, safety leader, announced the best safety slogan for the club will be decided upon at the next meeting. A small prize will be given to the person with the standard slogan.

Marilyn Junk announced that all officers' books must be in by July 18 at Mahan Building.

All projects and booklets must be completed by the next meeting which will take place in the Utermohlen home Tuesday. There will also be a sewing work meeting Thursday in the home of Mrs. Lieceur at 1 p.m. Anyone who hasn't done a demonstration prior to this meeting, is required to do so at this time.

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Everybody's different. Americans today are thought to be a very conventional people, alike as peas in a pod, sharing the dream of making a big buck and spending it in the same way.

There is some truth to this caricature—but it remains a caricature.

We may be alike in many of the things we do, but we are very much unlike in what we don't do or haven't done. To find how much of an individual you are, sometime take the trouble to sit down and make a list of all the things you haven't got around to doing.

When you then reread the list, you'll be surprised to find how surprisingly different you are from anyone else you know.

For example, after nearly six decades of steady living, I find that I have never yet —

Owned a home.
Bought a share of stock.
Learned to drive an automobile or a motorcycle.
Lived in the suburbs.
Seen a movie at a drive-in theater.

In 1912, the United States won the Olympic Games in Stockholm.

In 1918, Americans attacked German positions at Chateau Thierry in France. Also, the second battle of the Marne began.

In 1958, President Eisenhower ordered 3,500 U.S. Marines to Lebanon following a coup in nearby Iraq.

In 1959, a general strike was started by the Steelworkers Union, halting 85 per cent of the nation's steel production.

Ten years ago, John F. Kennedy accepted the Democratic nomination for president and spoke of a "New Frontier" for America.

Five years ago, Mariner 4, the world's first probe of the planet Mars, began transmitting photos of the planet back to earth.

One year ago, Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird said the United States "turned the corner" toward peace in Vietnam.

Welfare Chief

Takes New Job

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Steven A. Minter, 31, Cuyahoga County's youngest welfare director and the first Negro to hold the job, has submitted his resignation effective Aug. 7 to become the state welfare director for Massachusetts.

"Sure, there is a difference of about $10,000 a year in salary," said Minter, who currently earns $18,720 a year, "but this is not the reason I submitted my resignation. It is a chance to make a greater impact in the field of public welfare."

Minter currently handles a $120-million-a-year department budget. The new post has a budget of about $630 million. Massachusetts has about 500,000 welfare recipients, about one-third in Boston.

The American flag has not always had 13 stripes. It had 15 stripes in 1795. A resolution of Congress of 1818 reduced the number to 13.

15, MURDER — Mark Tucker, 15, son of Donald G. Tucker, 39, Xerox executive, is held in $50,000 bond in Fairfax, Va., in the shooting murder of his mother and father. They were natives of Benton Harbor, Mich.

Guide To Good Health

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

I HAVE a mild form of epilepsy which is kept under control with drugs. I plan to be married this fall and my wife-to-be knows I have the condition. Although we have never spoken about it, I know that we are both somewhat afraid that our children may inherit this condition. What are the chances of this happening?

Mr. E. N. B., New Jersey
Dear Mr. B.: If there is no long history of epilepsy on both sides of the family, the chances are negligible that your children will inherit this condition.

That which stands out prominently in your letter is the fact that you have both avoided the discussion of this most important aspect of your lives. Unless you do, you are inviting hazards to a good marriage.

There now are many universities and hospitals where you can be given the advantage of genetic counseling. Here specialists are able to review your entire medical background and then assure you and spare your concern. To embark on a marriage without a clear and open study of this important problem would do you both a great injustice.

Sometime ago you mentioned a new drug for children who wet their beds. Because our six-year-old boy still cannot completely control his bladder, he is embarrassed at school. Can you give us the name of the drug and tell us how successful it has been?

Mrs. O. C. L., Texas
Dear Mrs. L.: The drug I referred to is Imipramine. Some doctors have used it with a moderate amount of success.

This drug, however, is not the only answer to the problem. There are a number of electrical devices that wake a bed-wetting child before the "accident" occurs. These, too, have been used in some cases to retrain the child.

It has been more than a year and a half since I mentioned Imipramine and I hope that you have not allowed all this time to go by without actively pursuing the underlying physical and psychological reasons for your son's bed-wetting. That need for psychological guidance which is most important is the for the parents and for the child, who lives in a constant state of anxiety.

Your encouragement is exceedingly important. To punish or shame a child for a reflex action he cannot control lays the groundwork for a great deal of difficulty later in life. Of course, I assume that every possibility has been ruled out. All methods must, of course, be used under the planned jurisdiction of a doctor. Certainly, drugs themselves cannot be used without his specific permission.

How can I take my doctor seriously when he smokes like a chimney and insists that I give it up?

Mr. D. B., Colorado
Dear Mr. B.: You must completely dissociate yourself from the smoking habits of your doctor. His health obviously does not depend on yours. Perhaps if you give up smoking you can play an important role in inducing him to stop. Undoubtedly he has the same difficulties as you do in breaking a habit that is so hazardous to health.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH: Is there any point in a friend's handshake that leaves your fingers in pain?

Penn Central Shock Still Affects Stocks

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Opinions now circulating that the stock market and the economy have shaken off the shock of the Penn Central Transportation bankruptcy reorganization appear to be superficial and incredibly premature. The first shock perhaps; but in the bowels of the economy there are secondary waves that haven't surfaced, and government and business financial specialists are keenly aware of rumblings. Effects will turn up for years, in American whistle stop hamlets and European financial centers, on campuses dependent upon dividend checks, in banks which made loans, on other railroads which need rolling stock but may find it almost impossible to finance such purchases. What will foreign investors now think of the stability of American corporations? Will they lose faith in other companies as well? Money from abroad has become a significant factor in American markets, the total rising to $17.2 billion in 1970 from $13.3 billion five years earlier. Such funds are a prop under some stocks. Will they be withdrawn?

Commission, which amasses data by the ton—literally—unable by existing methods to ascertain the financial condition of a line that carries 20 per cent of the nation's rail traffic? If this is so, will a mere study of the situation, as the ICC has already launched, be sufficient to protect the public in the future? Or should the ICC itself be studied?

New Cheese Spread Has Several Uses

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
AP Food Editor

Here's a new cheddar cheese spread that's comforting to have in the house because it may be used several ways.

Pimiento-stuffed green olives, walnuts and mayonnaise plus just the right seasonings are mixed with the cheese and produce a delightful result.

The simplest way with the spread is to put it to work as a help-yourself offering with crackers or party style miniature slices of bread.

It also tastes marvelous with hamburger and spells a change. To use it this way, place a cooked hamburger on the bottom of a toasted bun; cover the hamburger with the cheese mixture and add the second half of the bun.

ANOTHER WAY with the spread is to use it as a stuffing for tomatoes for an hors d'oeuvre or a salad.

The spread may also be used as a stuffing for small wedges of celery; here again the stuffed celery may be used as an appetizer or, with lettuce, as a salad. And a fourth way to use the spread is in a bacon-and-tomato sandwich. These hearty sandwiches make a fine main course for lunch or Sunday-night supper.

OLIVE CHEESE SPREAD

1 package (8 ounces) cheddar cheese, grated medium-fine (2 cups packed down slightly)

1-3 cup chopped (medium-fine) pimiento-stuffed green olives

1/2 cup chopped (medium-fine) walnuts

1/2 cup mayonnaise

2 tablespoons prepared mustard

1 tablespoon bottled white horse-radish

Into a medium mixing bowl turn the cheese, olives, walnuts, mayonnaise, mustard and horse-radish. Mix well. Makes about 2 cups.

IT'S SO EASY TO PLACE A WANT AD

OLIVE CHEESE SPREAD — Makes hamburgers taste scrumptious and may be used other ways.

WHS Class Of 1950 Reunion Is Held In Mahan Hall

The Washington High School class of 1950 held its 20th class reunion in the Mahan Building Saturday evening. A smorgasbord was featured.

The evening began with a social hour around the punch bowl from 6 to 7 p.m. Two milk glass containers holding white wine tipped carnations centered the table. Presiding at the punch bowl were Mrs. George McNew and Jim Aleshire.

The committee consisting of Mrs. Edwin Thompson, Mrs. John Ervin and Mrs. Gene Clay presented everyone with name tags. Corsages went to the ladies.

On the dinner tables were arrangements of white wine tipped mums and drift wood. Mrs. James Aleshire and Mrs. Jasper Kingery were in charge of the decorations from Marilee. Jerry Dray gave the invocation. Old snapshots, scrapbooks, clippings and past issues of the Sunburst were displayed on a table.

Following the smorgasbord dinner, Clyde McCray, president, read the class history and announced the reunion was dedicated to Bill Horney, the only member of the class who is deceased. Names of deceased teachers and school board members were read. At the main table, marked by 20s in gold, officers were seated. Aleshire, chairman of the reunion, made a few remarks and read the names of those present. Mrs. Thompson introduced the wives and husbands, read some favorite "pet peeves" of various class members and told their nick names.

Class officers, Clyde McCray, president; Jerry Dray, vice president; Mrs. Jon (Dorothy Pyle) Ervin, secretary; and Roger Pope, treasurer, were seated at one table marked by gold 20s. Centering this table was an arrangement of white mums tipped in wine color and driftwood. Mrs. James Aleshire and Mrs. Jasper Kingery were in charge of the decorations by Marilee. Jerry Dray gave the invocation prior to the smorgasbord.

The class motto was: "Our liberties we prize, and rights we will maintain." Mrs. Dwight Duff was in charge of the programs for the 70 present.

Mrs. Gene Clay presented amusing awards to Mrs. Barbara Browning Bartling, of Long Boat Key, Fla., for coming the longest distance, a cushion; Mrs. Irvin (Ruth Bandy) Jobe, the girl who had changed the least, a mirror; to Jack Boylan, the boy who changed the least, a mirror; to Jim Aleshire the grayest, a bottle of hair coloring; Everett Caplinger, least hair, a comb; Mrs. Lawrence (Patty Eckle) Dumford, married the longest, a bottle of vitamins; Mrs. Jim (Barbara Mahan) Boylan, for having the most children, (a tie between Jack Boylan and Everett Caplinger), a bottle of bufferin; to Mr. Caplinger, for having the oldest child, a model car; to Roger Pope for having the youngest child, a baby bottle; and to Mrs. Ervin, who gets lost the easiest, a map of Fayette County.

Members of the class, their wives or husbands, and guests danced to the music of Chet Wilson's Band, of Blanchester, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Committee members in charge of the gala evening were Mrs. Aleshire, chairman; Mrs. James Coan, Mrs. Ervin, Mrs. McNew, Mrs. Russell Ebert Jr., Mrs. Duff, Mrs. Charles Peterson, Mrs. Jasper Kingery, Mrs. Clay, Mrs. Roger Hays, Mrs. Karl Kellenberger, Mrs. Floyd Arnold, Mrs. Edwin Thompson, Dick Alexander, Raymond Anderson, Bill Benson and Roger Pope.

Winners of the flower arrangements were Mrs. Peterson and Mrs. Ebert.

Present for the reunion were Mr. and Mrs. Aleshire, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin (Becky Armbrust) Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. George (Roseann Armbrust) McNew, Mr. and Mrs. Jobe, Mrs. Wayne (Mary Sue Belles) Spengler; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Benson, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Boylan, Mr. and Mrs. David Brown, Mrs. Bartling, Mr. and Mrs. Frank (Becky Burgess) Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. Caplinger, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight (Lois Cherryholmes) Duff, Mr. and Mrs. Russell (Madeline Denen) Ebert Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Gene (Dixie DeWees) Clay, Mr. and Mrs. Dray, Mr. and Mrs. Dumford, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Flint, Mr. and Mrs. Daryl (Rosemary Justice) Heckerson, Dr. and Mrs. John T. F. Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde McCray, Mr. and Mrs. Charles (Anne McFadden) Bumgarner, Mr. and Mrs. Jim (Barbara Manahan) Boylan, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Musser, Mr. and Mrs. Jim (Majorie Parks) Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. Robert (Sue Paul) Dervin, Mr. and Mrs. Pope, Mr. and Mrs. Ervin, Mr. and Mrs. Louis (Peggy Reichelderfer) Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. Dee (Sue Taylor) Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd (Fern Thompson) Arnold, Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Jasper (June Tuvell) Kingery, Mr. and Mrs. Jim (Barbara West) Coan, Mr. and Mrs. Charles (Susie Willis) Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Jinks and guests Mr. and Mrs. Dave Ogah.

Robinett Family Has Reunion

The Robinette family reunion was held at the Fayette County Fairground. During the brief business meeting Emerson Robinette was reelected president and Mrs. John Topolosky (Dorothy Robinett) historian. Several communications from members residing throughout the United States were read. Roy Robinett and daughter, Diane were in charge of the children's games and Mr. Emerson Robinett led the adult entertainment.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Jay Harris, of Sarasota, Fla.; David Sanderson, of Redlands, Calif.; Miss Eva Fleming and John C. Pond, of Blanchester; Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Wheeler, of Sandusky; Mr. and Mrs. Leo Fleming and Steven Holmes, of Martinsville;

Frank Robinett, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Robinett, Bobby Robinett, Marty Robinett, Mr. and Mrs. Glendon Kelley and Joe Kelley, of Greenfield; Mr. and Mrs. Morley Robinett, of West Carrollton; Mr. and Mrs. William Foote, of Germantown; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Berry, and David Berry, Athens; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Arnold, Lancaster; Mr. and Mrs. Francis Morrison, Robyn Davis, Leeann Davis, of Circleville; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Robinett, Diane Robinett, of Worthington; Patricia Strethard, Jeff Strethard and Clarence Taylor, of Sedalia;

Plans were made for the social, held every two years, at the home of Mrs. Billie Wilson. The serving of homemade ice cream, pies, cakes, sloppy joes, ham and chicken sandwiches, and baked beans will begin at 5 p.m. Aug. 6.

Assisting Mrs. Lucas were Mrs. Mark Haines, Miss Betty McNeil, Mrs. Willard Moore, Mrs. Jane Wieland and Mrs. Florence Graves.

There will be no regular meeting in August.

Mrs. Torbett Class Hostess

Mrs. Dean Torbett welcomed members of the Loyal Daughters Class of the First Christian Church to her home. Several cards for ill members and shut-ins were signed.

Mrs. Jasper Crampton conducted a short business session and Mrs. Ted Merritt presented devotions.

The group voted to purchase a wedding gift for the youth minister of the church, who will be married soon.

Eighteen members were served refreshments by Mrs. Torbett, Mrs. George Robinett, Mrs. Walter Patch, Mrs. W. J. Hily and Mrs. Harold Moots. The next meeting will be Aug. 11.

MRS. ROSALEE YEAWORTH

Fayette Countian Scores 'First' At U. Of Cincinnati

A former Fayette County resident and Greefield McClain High School graduate is the first person ever to receive a doctor of sociology degree at the University of Cincinnati.

Mrs. Rosalee Cockerill Yeaworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Cockerill, of New Martinsburg, received the doctor of sociology degree at the University of Cincinnati.

A 1947 graduate of McClain High School, Mrs. Yeaworth received a bachelor of science in nursing degree from UC in 1951.

Prior to qualifying for her master of science degree in nursing in 1966, she taught maternity nursing on a part-time basis at Christ Hospital School of Nursing, Cincinnati. During 1969-70, she served as an adjunct assistant professor of nursing and health in the college's psychiatric nursing program.

Mrs. Yeaworth's doctoral dissertation dealt with the impact of continuity of medical care on physicians and patients in clinics.

Presently, she plans to continue teaching at the UC College of Nursing and Health.

She is a member of the Ohio Nurses Association, the American Nurses Association, and the Ohio League for Nursing. She is a member of the steering committee for the Cincinnati chapter of the O.N.

She and her husband, J. Thomas Yeaworth have three children, J. Thomas Jr., 16; Robert, 14, and Susan, 12.

Mrs. Don Clay and children, Rebecca and Jeffrey, of Bethesda, Md., were the houseguests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Clay, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Smith, of Bloomingburg, for the last two weeks. Mrs. Clay returned home and the children remained for another week. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bishop and sons, Tom and Ted, son-in-law and daughter of the Clays, and Mr. and Mrs. Clay motored the children to Washington, Pa., where they were met by their father and returned to Bethesda.

Shower Compliments Bride-Elect

Miss Vicki Wilson, bride-elect of Mr. Dale Lynch, was guest of honor at a bridal shower given by Miss Cindy Lanum and Miss Linda Tatman, assisted by Miss Leslie Lanum.

The gift table was centered with an arrangement of spring daisies in yellow and white.

"Dub" bridge prizes went to Mrs. Evelyn Lynch, Miss Judy Jacobs and Mrs. Samuel F. Wilson, who presented them to Miss Wilson.

Party sandwiches and punch were served to the honor guest, Miss Julie Wilson, Mrs. Samuel Wilson, Mrs. Lynch, Miss Gale Lynch, Mrs. Fred Burr, Mrs. Roger Taylor, Mrs. Bill Naylor, Mrs. Joe McFadden, Mrs. John Cameron, Mrs. Tom Allen, Miss Donna Pfersick, Miss Jacobs, Miss Sandy Douds and Mrs. H. O. Nolan.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer N. Reed, 619 Fairway Dr., returned Sunday from a three-week tour of the Alpine countries of Europe. After landing in Zurich, Switzerland, they traveled through parts of Germany, Austria, Yugoslavia, Italy and Switzerland. Their tour circling and through the Alps, terminated in Geneva. En route they stopped briefly in Lisbon, Portugal.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Burgess Jr., daughters, Connie Sue, Carol and Patty, and son, Jamie, of Plantation, Fla., arrived Monday for a two-week visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Glass, Rt. 41-S, and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Marsteller, Jamison Rd., and Mr. and Mrs. Everett Parker, of Chillicothe, have returned after a two-week vacation and fishing at Lake Pemishanga, Canada, north of Ottawa.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert P. Harris, 652 Warren Ave., have returned after spending two weeks in Hawaii. Dr. Harris attended the National Optometric convention in Honolulu the first week. The second week they toured the islands of Maui, Kauai and Hawaii.

Houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hidy, Meadow Dr., will be their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Don Hidy and family, of San Diego, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Lewis, of Bedford Hills, N. Y., are visiting this week with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Marcum, daughter, Lisa, and son, Johnny, 531 Comfort Lane, and with Mrs. Lewis' brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Allen O. McClung, and family, 546 Comfort Lane.

Mr. Frank Lentz and son, Bob, motored to Middletown Tuesday evening where they met Don Lentz, then went to the All-Star baseball game at the new Riverfront Stadium, Cincinnati.

Miss Rhoads Is On Tour With Choir

Miss Sandy Rhoads, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Rhoads, 912 Clinton Ave., and member of the All-Ohio Youth Choir, left July 6 by plane for London, England. There are 150 members in the choir who are participating in this concert tour. In London, the group gave concerts on three days and spent three days in Swansea, Wales. From there they went to Copenhagen, Denmark, where they performed in Tivoli Gardens.

On Thursday the group will fly to Paris and then on Sunday to Berne, Switzerland. Here they will give performances until July 21, before departing for Rome. The group will have a morning audience with Pope Paul VI on Wednesday, then they will go to Lisbon, Portugal, for a tour and return to the United States July 27.

Miss Rhoads a senior at Washington Senior High School, was guest of honor at a going-away party prior to her departure. Hosts were her parents and brother, Johnny Bill.

Present for the party were Mr. and Mrs. Steve Oyer, of Bowling Green; Mr. and Mrs. I. Charles Rhoads, Mr. Mike Caplinger, Mr. and Mrs. C. Patrick Harkins, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Seelbinder, of Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Dayton's Negro Mayor Rejects Color Line

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—James H. McGee, the man who once took on city hall, because Dayton's first Negro mayor Wednesday.

The 51-year-old attorney, active in civil rights issues, took on Dayton City Hall in the 1950s and 1960s regarding discriminatory hiring practices and will now find himself sitting at the top.

McGee's appointment as mayor was assured Monday when four city commissioners unanimously agreed to appoint him at formal ceremonies Wednesday morning.

The new mayor, now a city commissioner, has emphasized that a city official must serve all the people and has rejected attempts to make him an exclusive Negro leader.

He says leadership generally must respond to both human problems and business. "Cities basically are centers of commerce," he says, "and unless commerce is healthy, people will suffer."

He is hesitant to get into specifics about the direction of mayoral leadership, but has expressed desire to continue programs to keep Dayton's unemployment down and rejuvenate the inner city.

He says this city of 232,000 with a 30 per cent Negro population has the same problems as most urban areas today. "If we rejuvenate the inner city," McGee said, "we're going to generate more jobs; and that's going to help all our people."

Friends and some city hall observers believe McGee would have become mayor sooner if he had eased his ironclad integrity and had been more of a politician.

C. J. McLin Jr., a Democratic state representative from Dayton, says, "I think he's for right and right doesn't have any color to it."

McGee grew up in Steubenville, Ohio, and graduated from Wilberforce University. He paid his way through school by working as the secretary to the dean of men.

After three years with the Army in Europe during World War II, he used the GI Bill to get his law degree at Ohio State University.

He and his wife, Betty, a native of St. Paul, Minn., came to Dayton in 1948 for what were to be five dead years. "We didn't make more than $2,000 a year," he recalls.

McGee played a major role in correcting racial inequities by representing the NAACP in a series of public accommodation suits.

"They used to call him that radical NAACP lawyer," says Mrs. Miley O. Williamson, local NAACP executive secretary. "He had a lot to do with the atmosphere and climate we have today."

In recent years, particularly since his appointment and subsequent election to the Dayton City Commission, McGee has been characterized as a moderate and occasionally has been the target of "Uncle Tom" barbs.

At the same time, Mrs. Williamson said, "He often was the only attorney in town who would take on civil rights cases."

McGee makes no claims of militancy. His philosophy was stated during a recent joint city commission-school board meeting.

A young black militant had presented a long list of demands for school improvements and then termed his demands "non-negotiable."

"What do you mean, boy?" asked McGee. "Negotiating is what we're here for. You've got to learn now that it's through negotiations that you get things done."

McGee's first public post came when he was named an anti-poverty aide to former U.S. Rep. Rodney M. Love. A year later he was appointed to a seat on the city commission when a member resigned.

As mayor he will complete the unexpired term until Dec. 31, 1973, of Dave Hall, who resigned because of ill health.

In private life, McGee is a family man with a small circle of friends. Often he takes his wife and two teen-age daughters with him when he represents the city at national conventions.

Dayton will be the fourth largest city in the nation with a black mayor and second in Ohio. Cleveland, Newark, N.J.; and Washington, D.C., also have Negro mayors.

British Trade Deficit Noted

LONDON (AP)—British trade with the rest of the world went $122.4 million in the red in June, the biggest monthly deficit in 17 months, the Board of Trade announced Tuesday.

It was the third monthly trade deficit in a row, with losses of $24 million in April and $74.4 million in May. This brought down the monthly average from a profit of $26.4 million during the first quarter of the year to a deficit of $73.6 million in the second quarter.

The June figures, the first published by the new Conservative government, supported the Tory charge during the June election campaign that the nation's foreign trade performance was still imperiling its economic health despite claims by Harold Wilson's Labor government that it reversed the deficit trend.

There was no immediate comment today from Prime Minister Edward Heath's office, but the Board of Trade attributed States and Canada at a time the June performance partly to when British imports were reduced exports to the United Kingdom.

Set Hearing For Juvenile In Murder

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — A hearing is scheduled next Wednesday to determine whether 17-year-old Dennis Wimer stands trial as an adult or a juvenile in the slaying of a 71-year-old woman neighbor in Leroy Township.

Juvenile Court Judge John M. Parks announced plans Tuesday for the hearing.

However, Wimer's attorney, Bernstein, said he may ask for a continuance because he will be tied up with a trial starting Monday in Lake County Common Pleas Court.

The attorney filed a motion in juvenile court for psychiatric examination for Wimer.

Wimer is accused of killing

Florence Van Amburgh, a widow whose body was found last week at the bottom of a wooded hill about five miles from her home. She had been stabbed and shot.

Wimer is charged with three counts of delinquency in connection with first-degree murder, abduction of Mrs. Van Amburgh and assaulting a deputy sheriff.

NROTC Launches Scholarship Plan

The 25th annual national competition for the Naval Reserve Officers' Training Corps (NROTC) college scholarship program is under way.

The program prepares young men for Navy or Marine Corps commissions while they are studying at one of the many civilian colleges and universities where NROTC Units are established.

All tuition, fees, uniforms, and books are furnished by the Navy, and the student receives $50 per month subsistence allowance for four years. During the summers between academic years, the student participates in at-sea training periods as midshipman. After successfully completing a baccalaureate level college course and all military requirements, he is commissioned in the Regular Navy or Marine Corps.

Applicants for this program will be considered based on scores obtained on either the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) of the College Entrance Examination Board (CEEB), Princeton, N. J., or the American College Test (ACT) of the American College Testing Program, Iowa City, Iowa, in lieu of the Navy College Aptitude Test (NCAT) previously utilized.

Applicants for the 1971 NROTC College Scholarship Program must:

— Apply for and take either test specified above at their own expense prior to Dec. 31, 1970.

— Arrange with the appropriate testing agency for the submission of their scores to the NROTC College Scholarship Program.

Eligible high school students and graduates should submit their applications before Dec. 1. Application forms are available from high school counselors or from the area Navy recruiter Chief Royce I. Booth, who is at the Selective Service office in Washington, C. H. each Monday and Thursday from noon until 1 p.m. Additional information may be obtained by calling Phone 772-4625 at Chillicothe.

Sheilah Graham Ends Era By Ending Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The last of Hollywood's three onetime grande dames of the press is leaving the local scene.

Last week Sheilah Graham told Abdel Green of Variety that she was going to end her reporting of movie chatter. She plans to devote herself to book writing and a column called "Speaking for Myself," with emphasis on a broad range of issues of interest to women.

The other members of the onetime "Terrible Trio" were the late Hedda Hopper and Louella Parsons, now in a Santa Monica sanitarium. Somehow the place doesn't seem the same.

The three ladies were considered terrible only in the power wielded over the careers of the famous and over the movies they made. On the whole that power was exercised benevolently, though many a bruised ego didn't think so.

First came Louella. For almost 20 years she enjoyed a near monopoly on studio news. With the powerful aid of her patron, William Randolph Hearst, she insisted that the studios channel important announcements through her. She also acted as mother confessor for two generations of stars, and that helped her maintain control of the personal news.

A pretender to the throne arrived in the late 1930s.

Hedda Hopper had been a successful actress. Down on her luck, she turned to selling real estate then decided to write a movie column. A colorful figure in her own right, she brought verve and daring to her new profession.

Having had no journalistic training, she was never the reporter that Louella was. But Hedda made up for it in guts. She never deposed Louella but she became equal in power.

Sheilah was always No. 3 and hence had to try ever so much harder. She attracted notice by the classic column technique of picking big targets. Concerted attacks on such stars as Clark Gable and Claudette Colbert accomplished the purpose of gaining attention. Such tactics also barred Miss Graham from a number of the movie sets.

In recent years she has spent more time in London and New York than in Hollywood, and she has also led an active literary life. So it was no surprise when she disclosed that she is through with reporting the foibles of the stars.

Boy, 10, Is Killed When Struck By Auto

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Arthur Hyatt, 10, of Youngstown died Tuesday of injuries received Monday when he rode his bicycle into the path of an automobile near his home on North Racoon Road.

The 48-year-old woman who drove the car was reported in shock at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Kentucky Accident Fatal To Ohioan

PINEVILLE, Ky. (AP) — John Clayton Lowery, 52, Mid-dlesboro, and Nellie Walden, 52, Dayton, Ohio, were killed and one critically injured in a head-on collision Tuesday on U. S. 119 in Bell County.

State Police said Melissa Walden, 3, Mrs. Walden's grand-daughter, was critically hurt and taken to a Knoxville, Tenn., hospital. Mrs. Walden's husband Leroy, was hospitalized here.

Agnew Can't Attend Governors' Meeting

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew will not be able to attend the Mid-western Governor's Conference here next week, his Washington office reported Tuesday.

The conference will open Sunday and extend through Wednesday, with Gov. James A. Rhodes as host.

Rule Suicide In Hanging

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — because of involvement in several disturbances.

He was charged with disorderly conduct in connection with a February disturbance and his case was pending in Municipal Court.

Police said Goolsby originally was placed in a cell with other prisoners awaiting court appearances for drunkenness but that each of the prisoners was moved to a separate cell after Goolsby created a disturbance with "racist talk."

Goolsby, known as Juba Chil-embwe on campus, was a leader in the Black Liberation Front at CCC. A college official said he was expelled earlier this year.

Alumni Gifts Decline In Number, Rise In Amount

BY DAVID TOMLIN
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—College graduates approaching middle age are the ones most likely to lend financial support to their schools, and although the number willing to give is apparently declining, gifts are getting bigger.

According to fund raisers at a sampling of colleges and universities in Ohio, campus unrest and an uncertain economic situation have had their effect on alumni giving, but not enough to keep total contributions from rising annually.

The reason seems to be that while some alumni react to campus protests by closing their checkbooks in disgust, the remaining contributors feel that if their schools have fallen on difficult times, now is the time to give more.

The generally gloom economic outlook has also discouraged some graduates from making large contributions this year, but extra effort on the part of fund raisers in most cases has taken up the slack.

Receipts are up almost everywhere. William Heim, managing director of the Ohio State University development fund, said the school's 1969-70 drive met with considerably more success than last year.

He said this year's drive netted $6.3 million compared with $4.1 million in 1968-69. Alumni contributions make up about 40 per cent of total gifts.

Robert Jones, Cleveland State University development director, reports gifts to the school up 10 per cent over last year.

Oberlin College, in the first year of a four-year campaign, has already raised 40 per cent of the $115 million it hopes to get.

At Case Western Reserve University alumni giving increased by $50,000 over last year's fund drive results.

Other schools reported their fund raising efforts yielded contributions equal to or exceeding those of the previous year. Fortunately for higher education, the willingness of alumni to give is apparently not affected enough by campus disturbances to alter total receipts.

"I'll get a letter from one alumnus who says, 'I think the kids are right, here's a little bit extra,'" Heim says, "and the next letter I pick up says, 'I think the kids are wrong, here's a little more money to help the university.'"

Heim reports the overall number of contributing alumni at OSU has decreased in the past year, but the size of individual gifts has risen.

"The ones who stop giving are the fringe donors who always give us trouble," he explains. "The most loyal and regular ones... are the ones who will stick with you or even raise their gifts during rough times."

This appeared to be the case at other schools. Case Western lost some gifts because alumni were upset over student dissidents, but total contributions continued to rise.

"Campus unrest has caused some alumni to stop giving," according to Paul Jones, associate director of development at the school, "while others have started or increased their giving for the same reason."

Ron Stephany, director of foundation and government relations at Ohio Wesleyan University, calls it "a record year" for angry letters from alumni who say they will no longer contribute to the university because of campus protests.

Apparently most of these come from small donors, Stephany says, because the impact on total funds received was negligible. Again, fewer contributors made up the difference with larger gifts.

The effect of the nation's uncertain economic health and the stock market slump on alumni contributions has been much like that of campus unrest: there is evidence that they have had some impact, but not enough to show up in the total receipts.

Heim says the market decline began to discourage some contributions to Ohio State beginning last January and probably will continue to do so "for at least another two quarters." He added, however, that the school was making up the difference by campaigning harder.

At Malone College, in Canton, fund raisers added more than 500 volunteers to their drive to compensate for slackened financial support from alumni due to the market slump.

The Ohio Foundation for Independent Colleges, which channels corporate donations to individual schools, reports that campus unrest and the market drop have diminished the number of contributions, but the size of the gifts and the overall total have increased.

Some schools have not felt the economic pinch at all in their annual quest for funds from their alumni. This has been the case at Otterbein College.

"I don't know why it hasn't hit us, but it just hasn't," remarks Richard Phleger, assistant director of development.

The fact that most schools are meeting or exceeding their fund raising goals, however, does not mean they are getting more money than they need. In most cases the extra funds are quickly absorbed by rising costs.

At Ohio State, for example, some of the new contributions have been made available for capital improvements and creation of new faculty posts, but Heim maintains the school "can't afford a drop" in the amount of money it can raise in gifts.

Funds raised at Capital University this year were up 15 per cent over 1968-69 and double what was raised five years ago. Yet almost all of the increase has to cover rises in operating expenses.

Increases in funds contributed to Case Western will be used to ease an operating deficit the university has had for a number of years.

Other schools report that contributions this year were sufficient to allow continuation of existing programs but no significant expansion beyond what had already been planned.

Given the slim margin on which most colleges and universities appear to be operating and the fact that the worst campus disruptions came in the final months of the fiscal 1969-70 fund raising year, next year's picture could be much different.

School administrators in Ohio are not making any predictions.

U.S. Military Justice System Challenged

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The constitutionality of the entire U.S. system of military justice comes under a broad attack today in the case of a soldier charged with murder in the alleged massacre at My Lai.

At issue before a three-judge federal panel is whether the Army has a legal right to try Sgt. Esequiel Torres, 22, of Brownsville, Tex.

The hearing was on a petition filed June 24 by attorney Charles L. Weltner of Atlanta, the first civil intervention into the Army's jurisdiction over the My Lai case.

It contends an Army trial by court-martial would violate Torres' constitutional rights on 15 grounds and asks either that the Army be permanently enjoined from trying Torres or that the case be transferred to federal court.

The court was expected to hear Weltner's arguments in support of the petition. There was no indication whether the Army would present rebuttal arguments, or whether a number of Army witnesses subpoenaed by Weltner would appear.

U.S. Dist. Court Judge Albert J. Henderson, one of the jurists on the panel, issued a temporary injunction against the Army in Torres' case two weeks ago. Since then, similar petitions have been filed in other courts for two others also accused in the alleged My Lai massacre.

One of those petitions, for Sgt. David Mitchell, 30, of St. Francisville, La., was taken under advisement Tuesday by U.S. Dist. Court Judge Jack Roberts of Austin, Tex.

The other, in behalf of Spec. 4 Robert W. T'Souvas, 21, of San Jose, Calif., has not been set for hearing.

Henderson, in granting the temporary injunction for Torres, said the case "strikes at the very heart of military justice."

Government attorneys said it could prompt every person being court-martialed in Southeast Asia to seek civil stays.

Sources said it was highly unlikely that the three federal judges would take immediate action.

They indicated instead the panel probably would take the case under study and continue the temporary injunction until reaching its final decision.

The Army had set the pretrial hearing for Torres' general court-martial for 9 a.m. Friday.

Torres, a member of the Americal Division during its March 1968 raid on My Lai, is charged with the murder of four Vietnamese civilians—one by hanging—and the attempted murder of at least three others.

Weltner challenged the constitutionality of U.S. jurisdiction in a case involving foreign territory and foreign nationals during a time the nation is not involved in a declared war, and failure to provide for a trial by jury. Weltner also contended the Army had exerted undue command influence in the case and that widespread publicity had made it impossible for Torres to receive a fair and impartial trial from the Army.

Mitchell is charged with two counts of assault with intent to murder and T'Souvas with two counts of premeditated murder.

All three have denied the charges. They face a maximum life sentence if convicted.

Natural Gas Supply Crisis Worsens

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — An East Ohio Gas Co. official said today that natural gas shortages had forced the company to turn down "applications for industrial gas in the amount of 27 billion cubic feet."

Francis H. Wright, senior vice president, said in testimony prepared for a Department of Interior hearing in New Orleans that the firm's gas reserves were so badly depleted last winter that East Ohio was forced May 1 to adopt a policy of restricting gas to industrial users.

"No new industrial customers will be added, and no additional gas will be sold to any existing customer until we are assured of new supplies," Wright's statement said.

He said East Ohio has had difficulty buying additional gas from suppliers and "we have received letters from our two largest suppliers advising that they will be unable to supply us with any additional gas in the foreseeable future."

Wright said it is "extremely urgent that the Department of the Interior quickly put the 137 tracts of submerged lands in the Gulf of Mexico offshore Western Louisiana up for sale."

The Interior Department hearings on proposed leasing of lands in the Gulf of Mexico for oil and gas production opened Tuesday.

Gilligan Campaigns In Mercer County

CELINA, Ohio (AP)—John J. Gilligan said here today all Ohioans are affected by the severe problems prevalent in larger cities.

"All of us are involved when precious state resources must be channeled into crisis after crisis in education, in crime, in control, in pollution," the Democratic candidate for governor said in a campaign stop.

Nixon Boosts Republicans During Trip To Cincinnati

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's nonpartisan trip to big league baseball's 1970 all-star game found him about as nonpolitical as the organist and scoreboard operator in the National League park where the game was played.

Nixon, during his brief stay in Cincinnati Tuesday night, missed no chance to boost Republican aspirants for high office in the November election.

The most prominent beneficiary of his embrace was Rep. Robert A. Taft Jr., who hopes to best Democrat Howard Metzenbaum for the U.S. Senate.

Taft, whose home is in Cincinnati, was on hand when the chief executive arrived for a pregame family dinner at a downtown hotel.

Taking the candidate by the elbow, Nixon escorted him across the street toward a sizable welcoming crowd and began shaking hands with enthusiasm.

Taft, however, did not take the cue. He beamed as he followed Nixon, but his hands remained at his side.

The President finally began introducing the candidate to the crowd so photographers could get pictures of an animated Taft.

Then Nixon climbed atop the hood of his bubbletop limousine and literally pulled Taft up behind him so they could be seen by more of the cheering citizens.

As for the ballgame itself, Nixon declined to show any favoritism in advance. But afterwards he admitted the American League was his sentimental favorite, although the National League won 5-4 in 12 innings.

As for the organist at Cincinnati's new Riverfront Stadium, he played fight music for the National League squad. All the American League team heard from him was a funeral dirge when one of its pitchers was knocked out of the box.

The scoreboard, high in centerfield, kept exhorting the National leaguers, in bright white lights, to "charge" and "Go Go Go!"

The home plate umpire was Al Barlick of the National League and, between one of the late innings, he approached Nixon's box to get a towel.

"I like your decisions," Nixon called out to him.

"I like your's too," Barlick responded.

Nixon began the day by flying to Louisville to meet with 12 governors of Appalachia. He told an enthusiastic street crowd of many thousands that staying in Washington was like being in "an isolation booth in the old quiz shows where the man inside can't hear what is going on outside."

He said he hoped to make more forays around the country soon. The fact that it is an election year presumably will be a matter of coincidence.

Nixon Likes Appalachia Proposal

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Appalachian governors have urged President Nixon to adopt a new regional concept of funneling federal money to the states, a proposal they say will boost his chances of getting his revenue-sharing plan through Congress.

Nixon was reported impressed with the governors' plan during a private three-hour conference Tuesday, but made no commitment.

Gov. Albert Brewer of Alabama, co-chairman of the Appalachian Regional Commission, said the regional approach would complement Nixon's revenue sharing proposals now tied up in the House Ways and Means Committee.

He indicated the governors told Nixon that adopting their plan would remove some of the congressional opposition.

"In revenue-sharing, there is a question of who is going to get the funds—the city, the town or the counties," Brewer said.

"In the Appalachian program, there is none of that bickering," Nixon, who capped off his day by attending major league baseball's All-Star Game at Cincinnati, told the governors he wanted to hear their views to break his administration out of what he called "the isolation booth" in Washington.

He said too often bureaucrats in the capital operate in the "rarefied atmosphere of the cabinet room" without knowing how officials throughout the country feel.

The Appalachian governors wanted Nixon to expand the concept behind their five-year-old regional commission into a nationwide network of similar agencies.

Brewer said the key advantage of the Appalachian program is its emphasis on planning and setting priorities, forcing local governments to band together to seek federal funds.

Nixon put in plugs for both his revenue-sharing and family assistance programs at the session with the governors.

Presidential adviser Patrick Moynihan said Nixon told the governors he regards the family assistance plan as the most important single piece of legislation in two generations.

Moynihan urged the governors to contact senators and congressmen in their areas who have expressed opposition to both proposals. The governors already have endorsed family assistance and revenue-sharing.

The family assistance plan has passed the House but is lodged in the Senate Finance Committee.

Nixon stopped twice in downtown Louisville to shake hands with onlookers. When he arrived in Cincinnati he broke away from the motorcade briefly to do some more handshaking.

He was greeted by small groups of antiwar demonstrators at both Louisville and Cincinnati. But at both places their chants could hardly be heard above the cheers.

Trailer Blaze Kills 2 Children

MONACA, Pa. (AP) — Fire gutted a house trailer in nearby Center Township Tuesday afternoon, killing two children alone inside.

Cause has not been determined.

They were Susan McGinnis, 3, and her brother Michael, 2. The bodies were found on a bed, firemen said.

Their father, Irvin McGinnis, was away at work, and their mother, Kathleen, had gone shopping with a neighbor, police said.

Firemen, summoned by neighbors, used axes to break in a locked door of the trailer in Tate's Trailer Courts.

Man Beaten To Death

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland police said that an automobile radio antenna was used in the fatal beating of Dale Rorhig, 35, of Cleveland, whose body was discovered Tuesday. The antenna was found near his body.

Animal Cases Investigated

Sheriff's deputies investigated two animal complaints Tuesday. Two children were injured in one incident and a cow was injured in the other.

Gina Conley, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Conley, was treated for a cat bite received while she was playing in a yard at 47 E. High St., Jeffersonville. Jerry Justice, 8, playing with the victim, received a scratch from the cat, but was not treated.

A dog owned by William Gorman, Octa, reportedly got into a field of cattle owned by James Paisley, Allen Rd., at 8:50 p.m. Tuesday, and severely chewed one cow's tail, according to sheriff's deputies.

Man Wages War Against City Din

By MURIEL LEDERER
Central Press Association

Listen to subway trains screech and scream as they pull in for a stop; hear the heavy staccato blasts of the jackhammer at a construction site; visit a home near a large commercial airport; try to sleep while the neighborhood moborikes roar.

Such is the accoustical horrors millions of Americans endure daily.

It need not be so. A former New York theatrical manager, Robert Alex Baron, believes machines, like children should be seen and not heard. Baron began his crusade as a result of hearing a half dozen air compressors going outside his apartment all day for a year and a half!

Once a peaceful residential community, his neighborhood was subjected to a "daily symphony of insanity" when the New York Metropolitan Transit Authority decided to extend its subway past Baron's apartment.

AFTER he successfully tried to get relief, Baron says, "It was a shock to discover the public is completely at the mercy of the construction industry. No abatement program existed on any level of government."

He has since given up theatrical producing to give virtually all his time to the non-profit task of Citizens for a Quieter City, Inc. in noisy Manhattan.

Baron has claimed some small victory for his war on noise. Putting his theatrical managerial experience to good use, he staged an outdoor happening at Lincoln Center where quiet cement mixers, jackhammers, motorcycles, and other muted machinery (mostly European) convinced Mayor

John Lindsay to create an anti-noise task force.

BARON'S efforts prompted the design of New York's fleet of "quiet garbage trucks," and urged the City Council to pass what has become the nation's first urban building code with an anti-noise regulation.

Baron spends his time lecturing and writing papers for technical journals. He functions as a clearing house for information about noise abatement, drumming up funds from industry and foundations for research projects.

Baron is also busy working on tests that can be tried in the city (such as rerouting traffic away from schools and hospitals). "We're not," he says, "for silence. We acknowledge the energy and activity of the city. We're not for a quiet, but for a quieter city."

Some of the weapons in Baron's arsenal are a quiet steel garbage can, a sound meter for rating decibel levels and a hard-hitting ad which says, "Noise pollution won't kill you. It can only drive you nuts or make you deaf."

ANTI-NOISE laws and ordinances on the books, Baron said, are inadequate and rarely enforced. He sees citizen groups springing up throughout the country to work for noise abatement.

"Citizens are organizing to protect themselves from decibels, just as pioneers had to protect themselves from Indians."

As a minimal start, Baron urges residents to purchase quiet garbage cans (they go thud instead of clang), now available on the market.

Baron, along with the rest of us, must do something to put his own house in order. A reporter eager to know more about the head noise fighter, telephoned Baron's apartment.

A young woman answered and, above the screams of several children, identified herself as Mrs. Baron.

The reporter asked to speak to her husband, but the message didn't get through. "You'll have to talk louder," said the wife of the "Ralph Nader of Noise," "I can't hear you over the racket in here."

Excalibur was the name of King Arthur's sword.

Ohio, Federal Census Data Close

By DEAN SCHOTT
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Preliminary 1970 federal census returns show the Ohio Department of Development's 1969 estimates match closely in eight Ohio counties while missing by almost 15,000 in another.

Although federal returns are not complete and final, the department's economic research division reports their estimates jell with available federal tabulations in Belmont, Coshocton, Geauga, Henry, Knox, Tuscarawas, Vinton and Williams counties.

Federal returns will be complete for all of Ohio in September.

ber. Officials then will have a better picture of federal figures and state estimates.

The division estimated an Ohio population of 10,790,421 Jan. 1, 1969. Officials declined to say how the 1970 federal figure will compare.

Of the federal returns for 33 Ohio counties, figures were closest for Knox County where 301 was the difference between federal tabulations and state estimates.

For Mahoning County, the two population figures were 14,629 apart. Federal census takers counted 301,384, while the state estimated 316,013.

The big reason, state officials say, is the unexpected loss of 24,779 persons in the Mahoning County seat of Youngstown. Cause of the loss was a recession in both steel and transportation industries.

Officials say the loss occurred between Jan. 1, 1969, when state figures were released, and April 1970, when the federal census was conducted.

The economic research division is the official state population tabulator and will issue yearly estimates for the state beginning July 1971.

Here are federal and state figures with the latter in parentheses:

Adams, 18, 777 (19,589); Ashland, 97,316 (102,074); Athens, 55,041 (58,631); Belmont, 80,059 (80,847); Butler, 218,201 (228,469); Clermont, 94,730 (105,161); Clinton, 31,060 (33,634); Coshoc-

Fayette County Airport Notes

By JUDY DENNIS

SUNDAY — Bill Barbor was the first student off the ground, winging his way on another cross-country flight to Ohio University airport and Scioto County. John Tom visited from Hillsboro and flew one of the trainers while, and Larry and Marge Solder returned from their holiday weekend to Put-In-Bay in their Commanche. Jim Rodenfels was very busy taking friends and family rides in the Skyhawk. Among Jim's passengers were Ann Del Ponte, on her first ride, Mrs. Robert Craig and her grandchildren, Becky and Tom Brownell of Oak Ridge, Tenn., and Jim's younger brother, Dan. After the plane was free, Jim's father, Paul Rodenfels, practiced some take-offs and landings.

Curt Hiser, a student, flew solo, practicing his maneuvers, and Maurice Hopkins, pilot, was flying his Cessna 172. Brand new Fayette Flying Service pilots joy-riding and taking friends and family rides were Paul Stuckey, Bill Pitzer, Max Ours and Hoyt Penn. The first three were flying our planes, and Hoyt was flying his Taylor-Craft. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bryant also came out from town for a pleasant Sunday evening flight.

MONDAY — Ed Elliott received student instruction, and Jack Fisher, a student from Wilmington, put three hours of flying under his belt. Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Barrett, Northampton, Mass. stopped for fuel on a cross-country flight to Dallas, Tex. That's quite a jaunt in a little Piper Tri-Pacer!

Eddie Pendergraft was demonstrating his newly acquired J-3 Cub to Dick Snodgrass, and Bill Pitzer was flying his favorite black and white Cessna. Jim Haggard flew his Aeronca Champ, and then goaded Bill into a bet that he couldn't skim the runway on the Champ tailwheel and keep the main gear in the air. Bill took Todd along with him, and just barely won the bet, but made it.

We had a unique passenger ride in the Skyhawk. Warren Coil took David Ellis and his son on a passenger hop conducting an air search for a gasoline-powered model plane that was lost in a field north of town. Bill took Kenny Clark for his first hour practicing take-offs and landings, and Kenny was dripping with sweat from the effort when they returned. Curt Hiser and Bruce Norris were both flying solo, and Millard French was flying the Skyhawk. When it was dark, Millard also went in the Cherokee Six for some nighttime flying.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bryant took some guests, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Landman, New Holland, for an evening flight. We had a charter trip into Chicago for freight for the International Harvester Corp. of Springfield. Warren Coil took the trip for us in the Cherokee Six with David Johnson going along for the ride.

TUESDAY — Ed Elliott and Tim Runnels were both at the controls of the trainers, bright and early. Bill flight-tested Bob Smith, of Chillicothe, and issued Bob a private license. Ed Pendergraft took Bud Crissinger a ride in his J-3 Cub, and Bud took photographs of various places in the vicinity. Kenny Clark received additional instruction on take-offs and landings, and Hoyt Penn flew in his Taylor-Craft.

WEDNESDAY — Warren Coil flew Hugh Wilson, and two of his friends on a flight inspecting their farm lands. It wasn't long before the weather started turning bad, and we really got a downpour in the afternoon. I made a fast trip to the house to put down the windows, but I still got some curtains and carpet soaked. One bright spot, however — the rain helped cool things off.

THURSDAY — The visibility wasn't the best, and the pilots encountered a few showers around the area. Bill Pitzer and Eddie Pendergraft flew to Ross County airport to see our new administration building, and Warren Coil gave instruction to Duane Dunsie, Wilmington.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Smith and their two nephews flew to Urbana in the Cherokee Six for lunch. Here's a switch! Jim Rodenfels has had a pilot's license, but just today got a license to drive a car. He drove out, in the evening, with his brother Dan and Buddy Cannon, and the three boys took a nice evening flight around Fayette County.

FRIDAY — Bill Barbor was doing short field landings and maneuvers. He finally decided to quit, as he was getting dizzy practicing his turns. Curt Hiser also flew solo, but had to cut his flying short due to rain showers moving into the area. The weather interrupted flying off and on all day. Millard French came out in the evening to take "Hap" McFadden a ride in a Cessna 150.

SATURDAY — Bill had to make a rush trip to Louisville, Ky., to pick up a new windshield for the Cherokee Six. The windshield had a crack at the bottom, and since the Apache was undergoing an annual inspection, we reeded the Cherokee ready for charter work. We had a lot of fog, so Bill flew to Kentucky on instruments.

The sun was shining in a nice, clear, blue sky down south, but it didn't clear off here until mid-afternoon. We were pretty busy from then on with students Charles Hawkins, Steve Jette, Curt Hiser and Bruce Norris flying solo, and Mary Lou Evans receiving instruction on maneuvers and instrument flying. Craig Beam flew his Cessna 170 to Bainbridge, and Wayne O'Bryant flew from Chillicothe in his newly painted Tri-Pacer.

Paul Crosby flew the Skyhawk and Bill Pitzer was riding around in the Cessna 150. David Duer, Springfield, had been wanting to visit our airport and came in flying a Cessna 170A. Warren Coil will be taking care of our Ross County Airport for the next two weeks, as Jim Rings our instructor here, will be spending some time with Uncle Sam on maneuvers at Camp La Jeune, N. C. That winds up the flying notes for this week, such as they are. Come see us!

Eunice Shriver Looks At The Kennedys

By LEE BELSER

Central Press Association

Members of the Kennedy family may comprise one of the most fabled clans in modern times, but they deserve "no special credit" for their political feats of derring-do.

This candid observation comes from no less a clan member than Eunice Kennedy Shriver, sister of the late John F. and Robert Kennedy.

Eunice, 49-year-old wife of the former American ambassador to France, R. Sargent Shriver Jr., said her brothers had it made from the time they were born because they were not encumbered with the sordid necessity of going out and earning a living.

"We did not have to go out and work, which most people have to do," Eunice said. "So we were able to concentrate on the things we wanted to do with our lives. We were given enormous opportunities and all my brothers took advantage of them."

EUNICE, a tall, thin woman who bears a striking resemblance to brother John, bestowed credit on her father, Joseph P. Kennedy, for instilling the Kennedys with undying loyalty for each other, and her mother, Rose, for teaching them compassion for their fellowmen.

"It was to my father's credit," she said, "that we were raised to be enormously loyal to each other. Even though we were all married and had families, we always took time to campaign for our brothers. We were very close."

In speaking of her mother, Eunice said she inspired them with the importance of together.

"I remember mother spending a great deal of time talking with us at the dinner table," she said. "She would cite poems, such as the 'Battle of Lexington,' explaining the significance of historical dates and religious feasts. She made the dinner hour one of the most important events of the day."

"The dinner table was not only a time to enjoy a hearty meal, but a time to exchange ideas."

COMMENTING on the late president and her brother, Bobby, Eunice said they were as different as day and night.

"The president," she confided, "was always a most exciting person to know. He had enormous ability to inspire people — particularly young people. And he was very much concerned about the fundamental issues such as freedom."

"Other politicians," Mrs. Shriver continued, "may think of politics as a place to make money, but for him it was a commitment."

On the subject of Bobby, Eunice said flatly he was "very different" from the president. "He worked harder for everything he achieved," she insisted. "He did everything by sheer courage and hard work. Nothing ever frightened him, but he felt compatibility with those outside the establishment and he never really felt a part of the establishment."

As the fifth child of Joe and Rose Kennedy, Eunice Mary Kennedy grew with the idea that public service was a worthwhile goal in life. Although the mother of five children ranging in age from 4 to 16, she still finds time to campaign for the less fortunate.

SINCE 1959, she has many times converted the Shriver's Rockville, Md., estate with its stables, tennis courts, out-buildings and swimming pool, into a summer camp for the mentally retarded, both children and adults.

A sociology graduate of Stanford University, the fifth Kennedy was engaged in social work for a time at the House of Good Shepherds in Chicago and later at the West Virginia State Prison for women.

Mrs. Shriver's ministrations to the needy were interrupted temporarily when her husband was serving as ambassador in Paris, but she currently is making up for lost time. Back from Paris only a short time, her schedule already is beginning to look like a page from Florence Nightingale.

HER CONCERN at the moment is the "olympics" program where mentally retarded children are taught to participate in sports with their families.

Eunice, who not only is devoted to the helpless, but to normal youngsters as well, said the generation gap doesn't bother her at all.

"It doesn't frighten me," she insisted. "I think the times are very difficult, but also very constructive. I believe in what many young people are doing and thinking. They work well when they are given a challenge."

With a smile, she pointed out that was dedicated young people, after all, who campaigned so diligently for both her brothers.

"TIGER CAGE"—This is one of the concrete pit "tiger cages" used to confine political prisoners in Con Son Island Prison off the South Vietnam coast. Two congressmen and Thomas R. Harkin, a staff member of a House fact-finding committee, visited it and returned tale of horror—discipline enforced with dustings of choking lime and other tortures. Harkin resigned, charging the committee majority tried to suppress the report. The allegation was denied.

Women's Strike Not Supported

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor has denied it is endorsing the idea of a one day strike for women Aug. 26.

An Associated Press story said Tuesday the bureau was among organizations backing the strike designed to dramatize goals of the women's liberation movement.

Director Elizabeth D. Koontz said that while her bureau is not supporting the strike call, "should individual employees wish to be absent on Aug. 26, the usual official leave policy of the federal government would apply."

Business Notes

COLONIAL SALES UP

ATLANTA, Ga., — Colonial Stores Incorporated, parent of the Albers grocery chain, had sharply higher and record sales and earnings for the 24-week period ended June 20, Ernest F. Boyce, president of the 424-store retail food chain, reported to stockholders Tuesday.

Net earnings for the first half rose 24.3 per cent to $3,596,654 or $1.26 a common share compared with $2,891,794 or $1.01 a year earlier, based on an average of 2,834,512 shares in 1970 and 2,827,354 in 1969.

Sales rose 13.8 per cent to $300,213,604 from $263,626,292 for the same period in 1969. It was pointed out that both sales and earnings were adversely affected by a strike in the first half of 1969.

"Present appraisal of operations for the final half of 1970 indicates record sales and earnings for the year," Boyce said. In its best previous years, Colonial had sales of $611,216,386 and earnings of $2.71 per share.

SILVER ANNIVERSARY

A 25th wedding anniversary party was given Sunday in honor of Mr. and Mrs. William Howard of Sabina by their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Briggs.

Guests enjoyed a picnic lunch and the Howards opened gifts. The wedding cake and table were decorated in silver and blue with a picture of Mr. and Mrs. Howard in the center. The couple were married June 30, 1945, in Greenfield.

Guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Clarence White and children, Doug and Cheryl Ann; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Howard and children, Debbie, Sandy, Kelly and Scott; Mrs. Edna White, Mrs. Annabel Howard and Mr. Charlie Howard.

SADDLE AND SPUR

A meeting of the Sabina Saddle and Spur Club was held at the home of Paula Waddell.

Members worked their horses in the circle and at showmanship. The club discussed possible fair demonstrations and upcoming horse shows.

The next meeting of Sabina Saddle and Spur will be held Monday at the home of Sandy Uhl. Refreshments were served

TOPS AWARD NIGHT

Sabina's Cheerful Chubbies Tops Club held an award night Thursday.

The leader, Mrs. Martha Jones, reported on the Tops "Backsliders" meeting she and two other members attended in Washington C. H. Tuesday evening. Members from a number of Tops Clubs held a round-table meeting to discuss this problem. Mrs. Janice Choate was announced the week's best loser.

The following received awards: The Queen's crown charm went to Mrs. Naomi Lanter as 1969 Club Queen for the entire year; a special charm was presented to Mrs. Kathy McCoy for one year of perfect weekly attendance. Mrs. Frances Garman received a key ring and a bracelet charm for being the Best Loser for the first six months of 1970. She lost 33 1/2 pounds this time.

Mrs. Martha Jones received her first year numeral to attach to her KOPS pin for one full year's perfect KOPS standing. Another member received her mortarboard charm as a graduate KOPS, another charm and a small check for completing her first six months as a KOPS.

Next week will be family picnic night at the Williams Memorial Park in Wilmington. Once a year the club members invite all their children and their husbands to be guests at a get-together.

Club members should go early to the firehouse to weigh-in first as weigh-in time closes at 6:30 p.m.

"Other politicians," Mrs. Shriver continued, "may think of politics as a place to make money, but for him it was a commitment." On the subject of Bobby, Eunice said flatly he was "very different" from the president. "He worked harder for everything he achieved," she insisted. "He did everything by sheer courage and hard work. Nothing ever frightened him, but he felt compatibility with those outside the establishment and he never really felt a part of the establishment."

As the fifth child of Joe and Rose Kennedy, Eunice Mary Kennedy grew with the idea that public service was a worthwhile goal in life. Although the mother of five children ranging in age from 4 to 16, she still finds time to campaign for the less fortunate.

SINCE 1959, she has many times converted the Shriver's Rockville, Md., estate with its stables, tennis courts, out-buildings and swimming pool, into a summer camp for the mentally retarded, both children and adults.

A sociology graduate of Stanford University, the fifth Kennedy was engaged in social work for a time at the House of Good Shepherds in Chicago and later at the West Virginia State Prison for women.

Mrs. Shriver's ministrations to the needy were interrupted temporarily when her husband was serving as ambassador in Paris, but she currently is making up for lost time. Back from Paris only a short time, her schedule already is beginning to look like a page from Florence Nightingale.

HER CONCERN at the moment is the "olympics" program where mentally retarded children are taught to participate in sports with their families.

Eunice, who not only is devoted to the helpless, but to normal youngsters as well, said the generation gap doesn't bother her at all.

"It doesn't frighten me," she insisted. "I think the times are very difficult, but also very constructive. I believe in what many young people are doing and thinking. They work well when they are given a challenge."

With a smile, she pointed out that was dedicated young people, after all, who campaigned so diligently for both her brothers.

"TIGER CAGE"—This is one of the concrete pit "tiger cages" used to confine political prisoners in Con Son Island Prison off the South Vietnam coast. Two congressmen and Thomas R. Harkin, a staff member of a House fact-finding committee, visited it and returned tale of horror—discipline enforced with dustings of choking lime and other tortures. Harkin resigned, charging the committee majority tried to suppress the report. The allegation was denied.

Women's Strike Not Supported

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor has denied it is endorsing the idea of a one day strike for women Aug. 26.

An Associated Press story said Tuesday the bureau was among organizations backing the strike designed to dramatize goals of the women's liberation movement.

Director Elizabeth D. Koontz said that while her bureau is not supporting the strike call, "should individual employees wish to be absent on Aug. 26, the usual official leave policy of the federal government would apply."

Business Notes

COLONIAL SALES UP

ATLANTA, Ga. — Colonial Stores Incorporated, parent of the Albers grocery chain, had sharply higher and record sales and earnings for the 24-week period ended June 20, Ernest F. Boyce, president of the 424-store retail food chain, reported to stockholders Tuesday.

Net earnings for the first half rose 24.3 per cent to $3,596,654 or $1.26 a common share compared with $2,891,794 or $1.01 a year earlier, based on an average of 2,834,512 shares in 1970 and 2,827,354 in 1969.

Sales rose 13.8 per cent to $300,213,604 from $263,626,292 for the same period in 1969. It was pointed out that both sales and earnings were adversely affected by a strike in the first half of 1969.

"Present appraisal of operations for the final half of 1970 indicates record sales and earnings for the year," Boyce said. In its best previous years, Colonial had sales of $611,216,386 and earnings of $2.71 per share.

WCH Navy Quartermaster Helps Navigate Attack Cargo Transport In West Pacific

Quartermaster 3-C Vivan L. Pollard is aboard the Navy amphibious attack cargo transport USS Durham making his last cruise to the Western Pacific.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Pollard, 621 Wilson St., and was graduated from Washington High School in 1966.

Pollard has made other trips to the Far East as a crew member of the USS Bexar and the USS Navarro, both amphibious transport ships. He served as an assault boat coxswain aboard the Navarro while it was attached to Amphibious Landing Group Seven in Vietnam for 11 months.

"I work in the navigation department aboard the Durham," the 22-year-old sailor explained. "I help plot the course of the ship and often man the helm while we are at sea."

When the Durham's General Quarters alarm sounds, Pollard is responsible for the statusboard on the bridge. He must plot the locations of other vessels in his ship's operating area and make sure the combat operations officer is informed of their position.

He was trained to do this job at the Quartermaster School in San Diego, Calif.

During his 45 months of active Naval service he has visited ports in Canada, Mexico, Japan, Hong Kong, Thailand, Korea, Okinawa, Guam, Hawaii, the Philippines and Vietnam.

"I've really enjoyed visiting other nations and meeting other people. It's been quite an education that I'm sure I never would have obtained if it hadn't been for the Navy," Pollard said.

His wife, Judy, is living in Long Beach, Calif., where the Durham is homeported, and a brother, Barry, 18, is stationed aboard the USS Neosho, a refueling tanker homeported at Norfolk, Va. "I hope to go to the Anthony School of Hotel - Motel Management in Anaheim, Calif., when I leave the Navy next September. I would also like to study real estate later," Vivan said.

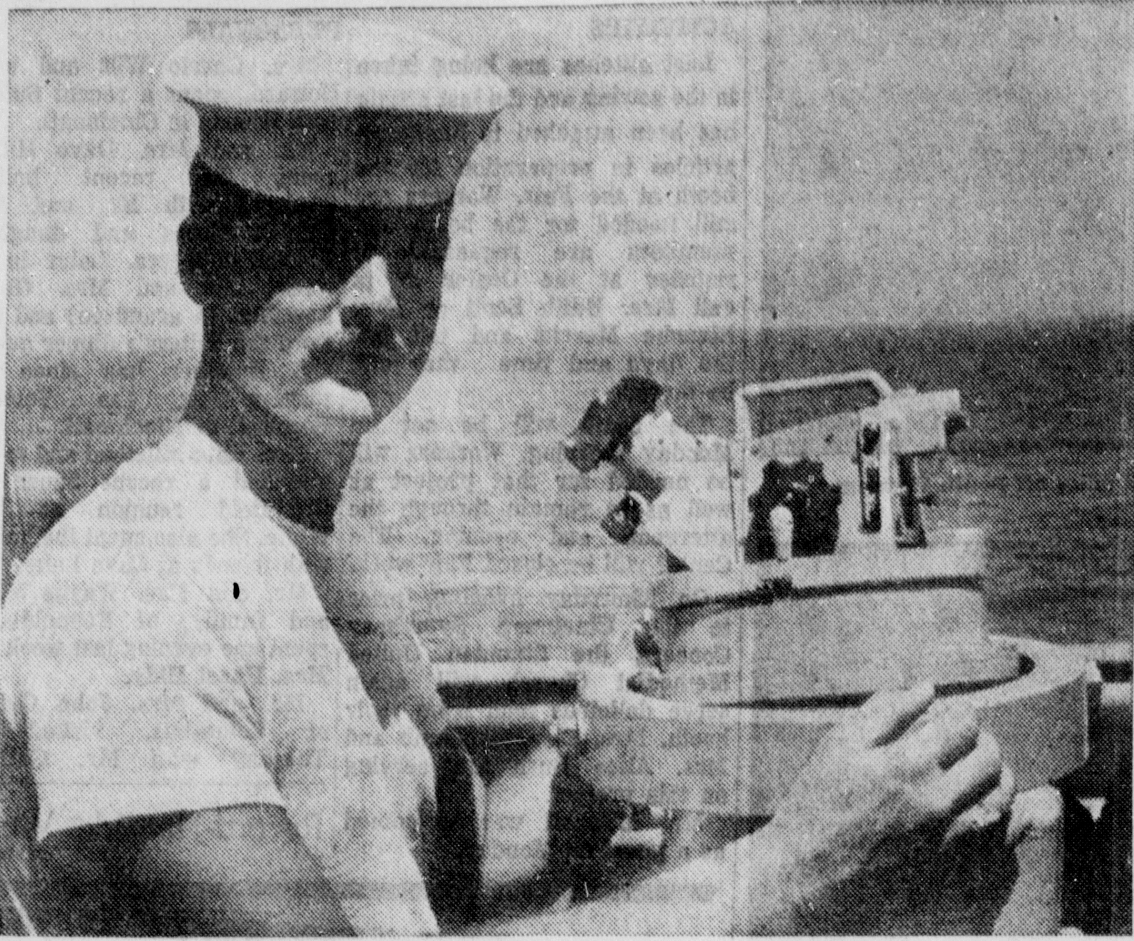

The USS DURHAM is the boatswain's mate's dream and the boilerman's Shaggy La.

Durham's modern cargo handling equipment and automated engine room facilities make life safer and less hectic for her deck force and boiler tenders.

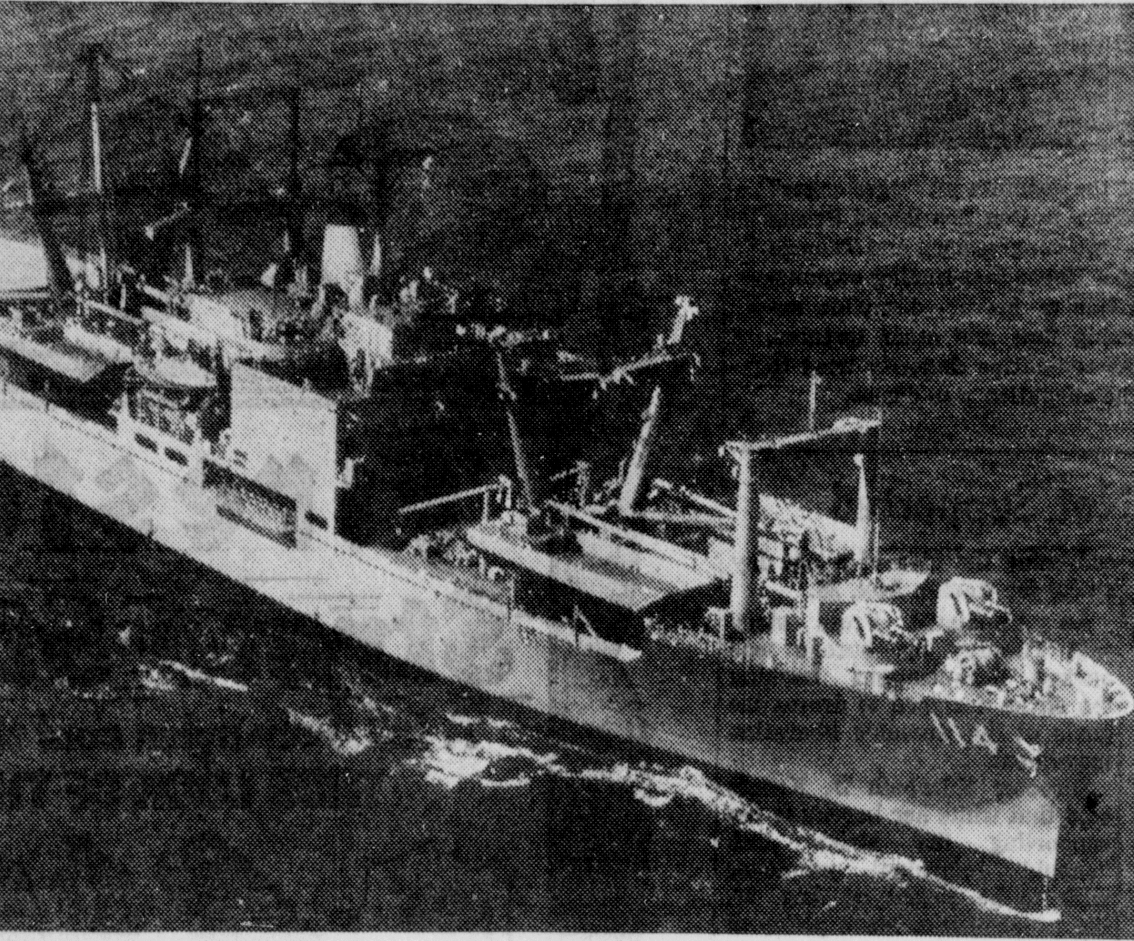

She is one of the Navy's five new Charleston Class amphibious attack cargo ships designed to carry Marines and their equipment to enemy beaches more quickly and efficiently than older ships of the same type.

For the next three months, the Durham will be cruising in the Far East. She will be ready to tackle freight runs between Yankee Station off Vietnam and Subic Bay, Republic of the Philippines, or launch her Marines as a part of an amphibious assault on a moment's notice.

The 575-FOOT ship is "home" for more than 400 Navy officers and men. About half of her crew is made up of the CH-53 Sea Stallion, largest boatswain's mates and deck

NAVY QUARTERMASTER Vivan L. Pollard of Washington C. H., takes a course reading on the bridge of the amphibious attack cargo ship USS Durham.

THE USS DURHAM is currently cruising in the Far East. On her decks are her four gun mounts, 11 assault boats and cargo booms. The flat area on the after section of the ship is the helicopter landing platform. She is 575 feet long and carries a crew of 400 officers and men.

Ohio's Veterans Reminded Of G.I. Training Benefits

Veterans of Ohio are reminded by Michael L. Halloran, director of the Regional Office of the seamen who keep the one-year-old vessel shipshape, pilot her assault boats and handle cargo.

On her deck, Durham carries 11 assault boats. Four of these are LCM-8 landing craft, each capable of moving 75 Marines and their equipment swiftly from the ship to a hostile shore (or a 100-man liberty party to a friendly shore).

The Durham is also one of the first Navy cargo ships equipped with a helicopter landing platform aft. The pad is big enough to accommodate the CH-53 Sea Stallion, largest Veterans Administration, that there is still time to complete college enrollment for the fall term.

Halloran urged veterans not to wait until the last minute if they plan to use their G. I. training benefits. "While many of the larger universities no doubt have already filled their freshman classes for the year, many smaller colleges and junior colleges will accept new students up until school begins in September," he said.

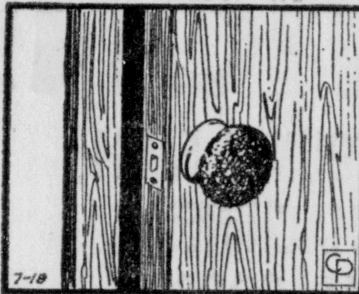

As a prerequisite, veterans planning enrollment must secure certificate of eligibility from the regional office in Cleveland. The current G. I. Bill covers men and women who served after Jan. 31, 1955. Present benefits provide $175 a month for single veterans and larger amounts for those who are married.

The regional office is located at 1240 East Ninth Street, Federal Office building, Cleveland, Ohio 44199.

NL Wins Tight All-Star Game, 5-4

SPORTS

20 Record-Herald Wednesday, July 15, 1970
Washington C. H., Ohio

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
CINCINNATI (AP) — When someone remarked, on the eve of baseball's 41st All-Star Game, that fans' interest in the inter-league tussle has been hyped this year, someone else said it was about time the players got interested.

Tuesday night, 56 of the major leagues' finest certified their interest... and then some... in a grueling, 12-inning struggle at muggy Riverfront Stadium.

When it was over, the National League had pocketed a 5-4 victory, their eighth in a row and sixth in as many extra-inning duels during the long series. But any talk of lethargy, or cop-outs was still after:

Pete Rose scored the winning run in a jarring collision at the plate with Ray Fosse that sent the Cleveland catcher to a hospital with a shoulder injury and left the Cincinnati flash nursing a painful charley horse.

Pittsburgh's Roberto Clemente, castigated for suggesting he might pass up the game because of a pain in the neck, showed up, played and capped the Nationals' tying three-run rally in the ninth with a sacrifice fly.

Baltimore's Dave Johnson, hobbled by a damaged knee, labored through eight innings at second base for the Americans on the hot and hard Astro turf that blankets the Reds' new park.

Southpaw Claude Osteen of Los Angeles, who had worked eight innings three days earlier, got into the game as a pinch runner in the NL ninth and wound up pitching three scoreless frames to earn the victory.

President Nixon, who joined the crowd shortly before game time, stayed to the finish. So did Hank Aaron, Willie Mays, Frank Robinson and all the superstars who were out of their respective line-ups after the early innings.

The only drop-out was bumpy Morganna Roberts, the exotic dancer and compulsive player-kisser, who made a promised foray onto the playing field in the first inning... and was promptly hauled off to jail.

Jim Hickman of the Chicago Cubs and Billy Grabarkewitz of Los Angeles two of the NL's top hitters who were overlooked in the fans' first balloting for starting spots in 13 years, shared the spotlight with Rose in the climactic 12th.

Rose, hitless in three previous All-Star appearances, and a two-time strikeout victim Tuesday night, stroked a single with two out in the 12th and took second on Grabarkewitz' single. Hickman then lined a single to center and Rose barreled into Fosse before toeing the plate.

"It was a bang-bang play," said National League Manager Gil Hodges of the New York Mets. "It took someone like Pete to bull his way in there."

The All-Star Game has been the setting for crippling injuries to several top players in past years, but Rose plays every game this same way.

"If I can change the score, I'm not going to worry about getting hurt," he said.

Boston's Carl Yastrzemski, named the game's most valuable player after cracking four hits to tie the All-Star mark, delivered a run-scoring single in the sixth, giving the AL a 1-0 lead.

Fosse contributed a run-producing sacrifice fly in the seventh and Brooks Robinson, Baltimore's 14-year All-Star fixture, drilled a two-run triple in the eighth.

Trailing 4-1 in the ninth, the favored Nationals finally exploded. San Francisco catcher Dick Dietz provided the spark with a leadoff homer. Singles by Bud Harrelson of New York, Joe Morgan of Houston and Willie McCovey of San Francisco brought home another run and Clemente tied it with a long fly to center.

Osteen then held the AL at bay until his teammates broke through again in the 12th at the expense of Clyde Wright, California's no-hit left-hander.

"I didn't dream of getting three innings in," Osteen said.

hurt. Rose suffered a charley horse above his left knee and Fosse an injured left shoulder. Winning pitcher Claude Osteen worked three innings after going in as a pinch runner and was a happy southpaw.

"I've got to cut out this box score and show it to my teammates," the Los Angeles Dodgers' hurler said, referring to the pinch running and pitching stint.

"They call me 'Grand Dad.'"

They're always kidding me about how old I am."

Hodges wasn't particularly surprised that the AL pitchers stopped the power-laden NL batters for the eight innings.

"Here you've got the best pitchers against the best hitters and the pitchers can contain the hitters if they get the ball where they want it. That's what the AL pitchers were doing most of the night," he said.

A writer mentioned to American League Manager Earl Weaver that the Nationals had beaten the AL in extra innings for the sixth straight time.

"We just can't beat them period," he said. It took them 12 innings though and I'd call that pretty even."

Wright, the victim of three straight NL hits in the 12th, said, "They just hit the damn pitches for base hits. You hit three in a row and you get beat."

President Nixon, a partisan Washington Senators' rooter, watched the duel from a box near the NL dugout.

"Maybe if he had sat on our side, we'd have won for a change," said Weaver.

The victory gave the National League, unbeaten since 1962, a 23-17 edge in a series once dominated by the American.

"They'll never beat us," said NL President Emeritus Warren Giles.

"I'm sure they'll win one, if they keep showing up," Hodges countered. "And I'm positive they'll keep showing up."

LL Major Playoff Set Wednesday
Halliday's Mustangs and the Coca-Cola Jets will clash at 6 p.m. at Wilson Field Wednesday evening for the Little League major division championship.

The two teams tied for the title in regular season play, with 12-2 records. The Mustangs won both meetings of the two tie games during the season, by scores of 6-1 and 3-0.

Garr Stars As Richmond Is Winner
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ralph Garr knows he shouldn't be in Richmond, but the problem is convincing the parent Atlanta Braves, who aren't in the market for another outfielder what with the likes of Rico Carthy and Hank Aaron.

The speedy Garr slammed five hits Tuesday night, including a home run and a pair of doubles, as Richmond clobbered Rochester 15-2.

Also connecting for the circuit were Braves Hal Breeden, who slammed his 19th homer, and Darrell Evans, who chipped in with No. 14.

Dick Tiger, Griffith Meet In New York
NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Tiger is 40. He hasn't fought since last November. Emile Griffith is 32. He is a bodybuilder with three wins in a row in 1970, including a decision over previously unbeaten Tom Bogs of Denmark in his own home town.

The two men have met only once—April 26, 1966. All three officials agreed Griffith had won Tiger's world middleweight title although many newsmen—and Tiger—dissented.

Four years and many bouts later they fight again tonight in Madison Square Garden with no championship at stake and Tiger is favored.

Weight can be an important factor in this 10-round match to be carried on a special television network with the New York area blacked out. By ringtime at 10 p.m., EDT, Tiger may have a decisive edge in pounds although he is giving away at least eight years.

When they met in 1966, Griffith had just moved up from the welterweight division and scaled but 150½. Tiger tortured himself to make 160.

After 15 rounds, referee Arthur Mercante scored it for Griffith 95-1 and judge Frank Forbes 74-2. Tony Castellano, the other judge, had it even in rounds 7-1 but gave it to Griffith on points 8-7, presumably because he floored Tiger for the first time in his career in the ninth round.

Woman Trackster Nears Dash Record
INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP) — Chi Cheng, the fleet-footed Formosa-born California resident, was clocked Tuesday at 11.1 seconds for the 100-meter dash for women.

Her time in an international track and field meet here was the fastest this year for 100 meters and one-tenth of a second shy of the world record.

Miss Cheng also won the 100-meter hurdles in 13.1.

Agrico pulled off an upset victory over First Federal Tuesday night at Armbrust Field while Helfrich was plastering the Jr. Firemen at Eastside Field in Little League minor action. Agrico handed First Federal its second loss of the season, 5-1, and Helfrich romped over the Jr. Firemen 10-0.

Agrico wrapped up his victory over First Federal with three runs in the sixth inning. Up to then, it had been a 2-1 contest.

Mick was the winning pitcher, hurling the entire game for Agrico. He struck out 10 and issued eight walks while permitting only two hits.

Wilson's Whips Sabina, 15-9
Bloomington roared out of the doldrums long enough to administer a 12-0 pounding to Willis Insurance Tuesday night at Rossmann Field in Fayette. Babe Ruth League play. Meanwhile, Wilson's Chevrolet remained the hottest going in league play with a 15-9 victory over Sabina, at Sabina.

Muff Jones pitched a five-hit shutout as Bloomington finally came alive and posted its second win of the season. He struck out six and walked three.

A nine-run sixth inning put the game on ice for Bloomington, which had led 3-0 to that point. Six hits, four walks and two errors brought in the runs.

Post 25 Will Meet Waverly Wednesday
Post 25 Pennington Wilson, leading the South Central Ohio League American Legion baseball race, will host Waverly Wednesday at 6 p.m. at Washington Senior High School.

Post 25 has lost three league games, as compared to Portsmouth's four losses and Hillsboro's five. Post 25 is 8-3, 19-14 overall.

Pro Golf Greats On Hand For Philadelphia Classic
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pro golf's great names, headed by British Open champ Jack Nicklaus, return to the American tour this week as the Philadelphia Classic ushers in the start of the big money season.

The $150,000 event is the first leg on a seven-week swing that ranks as the richest in the game's history. Approximately $1.4 million is up for grabs.

Almost all of the leading tour stars are on hand to make their bid for a share of it, in sharp contrast to the last two weeks when most of the game's top stars were in Scotland for the British Open.

Browns Open Training Camp For Rookies
HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — The Cleveland Browns opened their 1970 training camp here Tuesday with 36 rookies taking part in drills.

Veteran players were prohibited from taking part in the workouts on an order issued Monday by football commissioner Pete Rozelle. Rozelle issued his order because of complications in contract negotiations between club owners and the Players Association.

Coach Blanton Collier said the two fastest rookies in camp were flanker Eugene Carter from San Diego State and cornerback Ricky Stevenson from Arizona. Both were timed in 4.6 over 40 yards.

Car Injures Man Resting On Porch

A Market Street man literally got a rude awakening Tuesday evening. He was struck while lounging on his front porch as a car shot over the curb in a freak backing accident.

Rodney Petteys, 430 E. Market St., was treated at Fayette Memorial Hospital for injuries to his right knee, ankle and left shoulder, and was released.

The runaway car was driven by Collier O. Dewey, 67, of 427 E. Market St., whom city police cited for backing without safety. The accident occurred at 6:28 p.m.

The mishap was one of seven investigated in the city-county area Tuesday which involved a total of $810 damage to 11 vehicles. No one else was injured, and no other citations were issued.

Police said Dewey was backing from his drive across the street when his foot apparently pushed the accelerator instead of the brake. His 1966 model struck the porch, damaging it, a bicycle, a stroller and the lawn chair in which Petteys was resting. Damage to the car was estimated at $300.

VEHICLES operated by Jack G. Camp, 29, Rt. 1, New Holland, and David T. Ogan, 18, of 512 Rawlings St., collided at 10 a.m. Tuesday in the 200 block of N. Fayette Street. Damage was listed at $75 to Ogan's car and none to the trash hauling truck Camp was driving.

At 1:42 p.m. in the Clinton-Oakland avenue intersection, two cars collided as both drivers claimed a green traffic light. They were Bill L. Riley, 22, of 221 Henkle St., and William V. Turner, 78, of 904 Briar Ave. Damage was estimated at $125 to Riley's 1968 model and $100 to Turner's 1949 model.

A car driven by Deborah L. Cockerill, 16, Rt. 1, Washington C. H., struck a parked car owned by John Dilley, 836 Maple St., on Hinde Street near Court Street at 3:47 p.m. Police said Miss Cockerill backed from a parking place and struck the parked car, causing an estimated $75 damage.

Sheriff's deputies checked a single-car mishap at 4:58 p.m. on the exit ramp at Intersection 71 and Ohio 41. James G. Sykes, 31, of Bloomington, told officers that a broken axle spindle caused him to lose control and the car struck several road markers. Damage was estimated at $100.

Damage was only $25 to one of two vehicles involved in a minor backing accident at 6:30 p.m. in the 1200 block of Grace Street. Officers said Pamela R.

Haines, 22, of 134 N. Oakland Ave., backed from a driveway at 1213 Grace St., and struck a parked car owned by Mary U. Conway, Rt. 5, Statesville, N. C.

Walter D. Haines, 913 Yeoman St., reported to city police that a hit-and-run vehicle struck and damaged his parked car at 10:20 p.m. Damage to the 1964 model auto, parked in front of Haines' home, was estimated at $10.

Meat Records Ordered Open; Appeal Stated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has vowed to continue its legal battle against disclosing certain federal meat inspection records to public scrutiny.

But consumer attorney Harrison Wellford, who filed a lawsuit asking the department to disclose the records, says he will press his court challenge regardless of the agency's moves.

"We're prepared to take it all the way," Wellford, who is with the Center for Study of Responsive Law, told a reporter. "It probably will take another year at least."

The department decision was disclosed after U.S. district court in Baltimore, Md., ordered the agency last month to disclose part of its records.

The department asked the court for a 30-day delay in carrying out the order so the Justice Department can prepare an appeal.

Wellford asked the department to make public letters of warning the Consumer and Marketing Service had sent to some nonfederally inspected meat and poultry processors.

The petition also asked the department to divulge information on meat and poultry products it had ordered detained, the bi-weekly reports from the head of the department's slaughter inspection division, and the minutes of meetings held by the National Food Inspection Advisory Committee.

Judge Edward S. Northrop ruled the agency must produce the letters of warning and information of meat detention, but deferred action on the other reports and meeting notes.

The ruling and the appeal proceedings could have an important bearing on future meat inspection enforcement.

The Agriculture Department now treats information gathered within plants as almost a sacred trust and releases information only of the most general nature — if at all — and then usually refuses to identify names of private companies.

Train Derailed East Of Waverly

WAVERLY, Ohio (AP) — Railroad wreck crews were at work today clearing debris of a Chesapeake & Ohio Railway freight train derailment six miles east of here Tuesday evening. Thirty-five cars of a 128-car train derailed. No one was injured.

While damage estimates were not available, property loss was expected to be high. The derailment destroyed a double-track bridge over Carr's Run as well as badly damaging a number of freight cars.

The train was en route from Russell, Ky., to Columbus at the time of the derailment. Until the track is cleared trains are being rerouted over tracks of the Norfolk and Western Railroad.

Storm Sweeps Garfield Heights

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Mayor Raymond A. Stachewicz estimated today that an early morning storm which swept through suburban Garfield Heights caused $250,000 damage.

The storm knocked down power lines, poles and trees and partially removed the roof of an apartment building. Stachewicz said the building had to be evacuated and estimated damage to it at $50,000. No injuries were reported.

The storm was one of several which passed through the Cleveland area during the night.

Regional Water Plan Step Nearer Reality

The House Public Works Committee Tuesday approved Congressman William H. Harsha's resolution authorizing a coordinated regional water resources development and management plan for South Central Ohio.

An $800,000 fund, part of the Public Works Appropriations bill, will finance a comprehensive 5-year survey of the basin of the Scioto River, Little Scioto River, Hocking River, Symmes Creek, Ohio Brush Creek and other small tributaries of the Ohio River.

The study is directly toward flood control, water quality control, water supply, restoration, fish and wildlife enhancement and erosion control.

Rep. Harsha explained the resolution will allow a coordinated effort on the part of the State of Ohio and the Army Corps of Engineers to avert inadequate water supply and water quality problems that could develop within the next 10 years.

THE SURVEY will detail pertinent information dealing with water resources and related problems for the purpose of modifying and improving present recommendations.

Harsha commented "This sort of pre-planning and foresight on the part of the state and federal government will serve to protect and preserve our precious water resources and enhance them in the future."

The resolution was necessary to enable the state and the Corps of Engineers to work together on the project, according to a spokesman for the congressman.

The appropriations bill for the project has been passed by the House of Representatives and is awaiting Senate action. No difficulty is expected for the bill in the Senate, the spokesman said.

Aid Funds OK'd For City Schools

Congressman William H. Harsha announced Wednesday in Washington, D. C., that the Department of Health, Education and Welfare has approved an application for federal assistance made by the Washington C. H. Board of Education under Public Law 874.

The partial grant for 1970 is in the amount of $9,201.

Public Law 874 provides federal help for schools in certain areas with a significant percentage of children from families of servicemen and from families where one or both parents are employed at federal installations.

Both Fayette County school systems are eligible for this assistance which is based on the number of students in federally-related categories.

DIVORCES ASKED
Mary Hodapp, 327 E. Court St., has filed suit in Common Pleas Court for a divorce from John Hodapp, Columbus, on grounds of neglect of duty and cruelty. The parties were married Oct. 24, 1963, at Washington C. H., and have no children, according to the complaint. The plaintiff asks for alimony, expenses and to be returned to her maiden name, Mary Hendon.

Carolyn Lightle, 402 Clyburn Ave., has filed suit in Common Pleas Court for a divorce from Chester Lightle on grounds of neglect of duty and cruelty. The parties were married March 29, 1969, at Sparta, N. C., and have one child, according to the complaint. The plaintiff asks for custody of the child, support and a restraining order against the defendant.

Eye Reserve Unit For Congressmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S. C., a retired major general in the Army Reserves, says he has written 53 congressmen who are reservists in hopes of establishing a Reserve unit for Congress.

Thurmond said Tuesday former Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara abolished congressional Reserve units five years ago but the current secretary, Melvin R. Laird, has advised him he has no objection to re-establishing them.

Greeneview Loses On Second Try

Voters in Greeneview School District, Greene County, defeated a proposed 3-mill operating levy Tuesday.

The final vote was 423 against compared with 248 in favor of the levy, according to the Greene County Board of Elections.

The levy had been defeated once before at the May 5 balloting.

The board of education had sought the levy to offset an anticipated deficit in the 1971 budget.

A few Fayette County residents in Jefferson Township are within the Greeneview School District.

The school board has made no statement as to what action it will take now that the levy has been defeated.

Four ballots were cast in Fayette County — all against the tax issue.

School Issue Planned

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — The Hamilton Board of Education Tuesday voted to seek a $1.65 million bond issue at the November 3 election to construct a new library. The board also approved a $480,612 budget for 1971, $21,882 less than 1970.

Red Ink Bill Unpaid

Job Prospects For Women Brightening, Rotary Told

Mrs. Nadine Henniger, chief of the Women's Division of the Ohio Bureau of Employment Service, foresees a brightening future for equal employment for women.

She prefaced her talk at a Rotary Club luncheon meeting in the Country Club Tuesday with the assurance that "I am not a crusader and I am interested only in helping change the second class working status of women."

She cited the difference in pay for women in jobs requiring the same skills and training as for men. She said that "even in universities, men have a better opportunity to enroll in preferred courses" and that "because of quotas, more men are permitted to enter."

Much of the problem for women, she said, stems from "a sense of built-in inferiority." Turning to figures, she said 38 million women are now working in the U. S. and that women are the sole support of 10 per cent of all the families in Ohio.

ON THE brighter side, Mrs. Henniger pointed out that prospects for women in the professions are improving and that employment of women in government work continues to increase. Automation, she predicted, will create new jobs for women.

Mrs. Henniger commented that "husbands are changing their attitude on wives working and noted that labor-saving devices in the home give wives more time for employment. She declared there are laws which prohibit discrimination in employment because of sex and predicted that women will prevail on employers to observe these laws.

She asked Rotarians to examine the qualifications of the individuals, evaluate their talents and then disregard sex in employment.

THE PROGRAM was arranged by Fred Rost head of the Employment Service here.

President John S. Bath conducted the business session at which George Finley announced that Rotarians will take tickets at the grandstand during the Fair. He called for volunteers.

Bath announced that the annual Rotary assembly for club directors and committee chairmen will be held 6:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Terrace Lounge. The purpose is to lay out a program for the year and to coordinate committee assignments.

William E. Williams reminded that the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra Concert will be presented Thursday night in Gardner Park stadium if the weather is good and in the MTHS auditorium if it is not.

Emerson Warner was given recognition for 43 years of service with the Ohio Water Service Co. here.

Guests were Hugh Patton, with Jerry Sheppard, and D. E. Marsteller, with Richard E. Whiteside.

Visiting Rotarians were Pete Tullis, of London, and Wilson Moon, of Greenfield.
